Hint Counter-Attack In Chile Revolution

SANTIAGO, Chile (AP) — The military junta named an army general as president Thursday, formed a Cabinet and broke diplomatic relations with Cuba in a sharp reversal of Chile's foreign policy.

An around-the-clock curfew, in effect since Tuesday, was lifted at noon for 6½ hours so civilians could leave their homes to purchase food and other necessities.

In Buenos Aires, leaders of toppled Marxist President Salvador Allende's Popular Unity coalition said the former commander of the Chilean army, Gen. Carlos Prats, was leading troops from the south to attack the junta forces in Santiago.

There was no confirmation of the coalition leaders' information.

The leaders said they had a message from Concepcion, Chile, about 265 miles southwest of Santiago, relaying word that Prats had taken command of troops and volunteer workers. They would not say how the message reached them or where Prats' army was.

The coalition leaders in Buenos Aires included Juan Enrique Vega, former Chilean ambassador to Cuba; Octavio Gonzalez, a director of the Central Labor Union and Communist party leader; and Jorge Arrata, economic adviser to Allende.

The curfew in Santiago had been so strictly enforced that civilians couldn't leave their homes. Hundreds of others in this city of 3 million had been stranded in downtown offices and hotels.

Just as the break in the curfew began, a new flurry of shooting broke out in the downtown area. (Turn To Page Sixteen) (See "Chile")

All Night Bargaining In Detroit Deadlock

By MARTIN HIRSCHMAN
Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) — With a strike deadline only one day away, the United Auto Workers and Chrysler Corp. imposed a news blackout on their contract negotiations Thursday night.

Traditionally, the blackout has been viewed as a sign that the two sides are nearing a settlement.

The blackout was imposed only a few hours after a UAW spokesman said Chrysler had not made a new economic proposal and added, "It better happen soon."

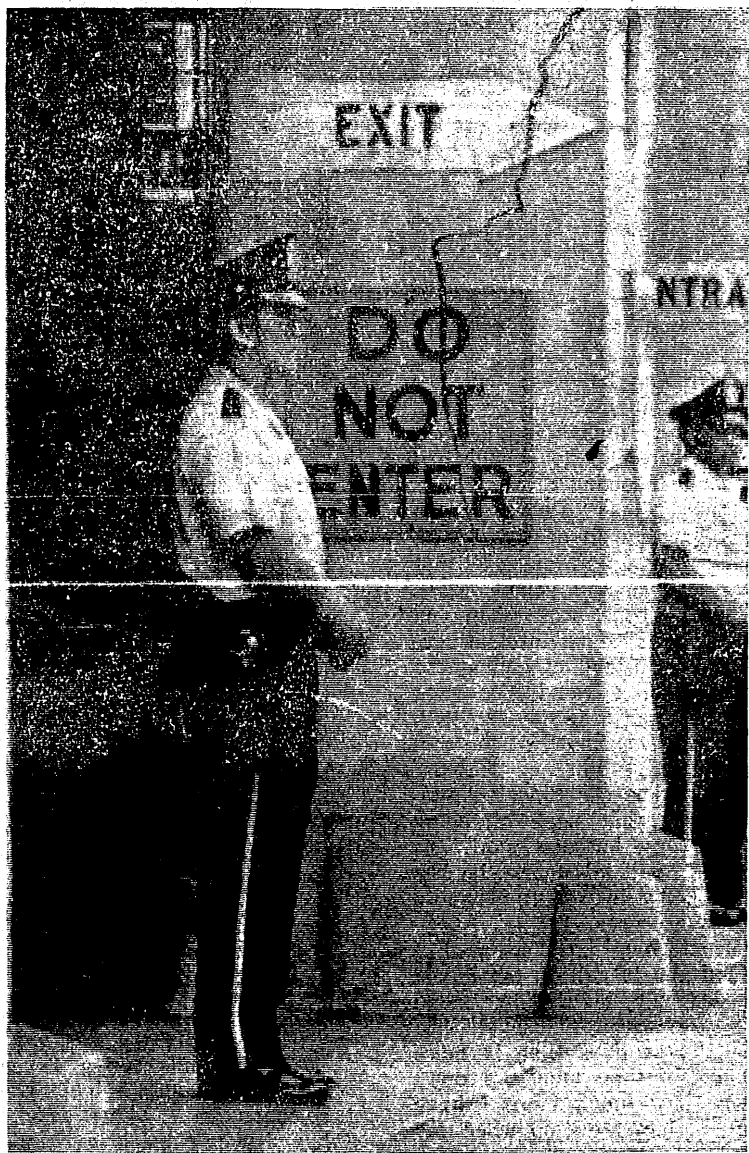

The union has called Chrysler's initial three per cent wage increase offer "a mockery" and said a second proposal is essential to avoiding a strike by the firm's 127,500 UAW-represented workers in the United States and Canada.

Negotiators prepared to bargain through the night in an effort to reach agreement before the current contract expires at 11:59 p.m. Friday.

The Detroit News said Thursday that Chrysler had submitted a new economic proposal that included a wage-benefit increase ranging from 6.2 to 7 per cent in the first year. The union denied the report.

The average assembly line worker at Chrysler makes $4.48 per hour, the firm says.

The union's major economic demands include an unspecified wage hike, improvements in the cost-of-living formula, parity pay for Canadian workers and retirement with a pension of $650 after 30 years of service regardless of age. Noneconomic demands include one that workers be allowed to turn down overtime work, now required.

Nationwide Investigation Of Bubble Bath Producers

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Trade Commission, in response to persistent complaints of skin irritation and infections among children, has launched a nationwide investigation of bubble bath.

The FTC investigation, initiated earlier this month, represents a resurgence of concern over a problem originally tackled by the Food and Drug Administration three years ago.

The FDA said then that the major producers of children's bubble baths had agreed to reformulate their products to use less detergent ingredients. But an FDA official said Thursday the action did not diminish the number of complaints to the agency concerning rashes and urinary tract infections among small children.

Heinz Eiermann, head of the FDA's division of cosmetics, said that of the 1,262 cosmetic reaction complaints received since January, 1970, there have been 85 involving bubble baths.

Although the number is relatively small, federal officials feel they receive complaints in only a slight fraction of the irritation cases.

Spokesmen for Gold Seal and Purex, whose Mr. Bubble and Bubble Club Fun Bath, respectively, are the leaders in the children's bubble bath market, said the number of complaints concerning the products are small.

FDA officials said they expect part of the problem might be that as manufacturers cut back on the sudsing ingredients in the products, users simply doped in more bubble bath to get plenty of bubbles.

Israeli, Syrian Air War

TEL AVIV (AP) — Israeli and Syrian warplanes wheeled near Syria's Mediterranean coastline Thursday in two dog-fights that marked the biggest Middle East aerial battle since the 1967 six-day war.

The Israeli air force said it shot down 13 Syrian MIG21 fighters and lost one of its own French-built Mirages but rescued the pilot. Syria said its air force shot down five Israeli jets and lost eight MIGs.

Brig. Gen. Binyamin Peled, the Israeli air force chief, said 12 Israeli Mirages and Phantoms "were on a routine sea patrol" about 150 miles north of Israel's northern port of Haifa when they were intercepted by about a dozen Syrian MIG21 aircraft.

Syria claimed that the Israeli jets penetrated its airspace near Tartous, Syria's second largest port. Peled said, "We were over international waters when the battle ensued."

The Israelis said they shot down nine MIGs and suffered their one plane loss during the initial contact. About two hours later, the Israelis said, their planes shot down four more MIGs while a helicopter was rescuing the downed Israeli pilot from the sea. An Israeli helicopter also rescued a Syrian pilot.

The Syrian was reported in good condition. The Israelis did not say what they would do with him.

The downed Israeli pilot, a burly man who appeared to be in his late 20s, appeared at a news conference still dressed in his flight suit. He smiled frequently and appeared relaxed. His name was not released.

"The battle was short. Then we were ordered to break contact and go home," he said. "About 10 miles south of the spot of engagement I was hit. I had to shut down the engine and after gliding for some time I finally ditched."

"I ejected about 10,000 feet and everything went well. Then I waited to be rescued. I was sure all the time they would come to get me out," he said.

"I didn't feel much during the ejection. It all happened so fast." He said he didn't see the plane that hit him.

The pilot evaluated the Syrian fighting performance as "low, and the statistics show it. They never had a chance."

The battle gave the Israelis their biggest number of kills since they destroyed 387 Arab planes, most of them still on the ground, in one day of the 1967 six-day war. In the last major clash between Israel and Syria, on Jan. 8, the Israelis claimed to have downed six MIG21s in day-long air and ground fighting.

Consider 10% Tax Rate Hike

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon may ask Congress for a temporary 10 per cent hike in federal income tax rates with the money to be refunded to taxpayers later — a forced savings plan intended to cool the economy, the White House said Thursday.

Presidential counselor Melvin R. Laird disclosed Nixon's consideration of the unusual tax plan but said no final decision had been made on it.

Laird said the proposal was not the same as a tax increase, but rather a device to remove income temporarily from the economy in an effort to fight inflation.

The presidential adviser told a White House news briefing that the tentative proposal Nixon ordered studied by his economic aides could work this way:

Each individual and corporate taxpayer would have his tax rate increased by 10 per cent. In other words, a person now in the 20 per cent tax bracket would find himself paying at a rate of 22 per cent.

The extra taxes collected would go into an escrow account and would be returned to the taxpayer at a later time when the economy cools and inflation ebbs. Laird spoke of the refunds coming in two to five years.

Presumably, the taxpayer would receive interest on the forced savings account. Laird did not discuss this point, but interest payments were one feature of such a plan presented by Federal Reserve Board chairman Arthur F. Burns.

Laird would not set a specific timetable for a presidential decision, but said he doubted Congress could consider such a plan until next year.

This view was echoed by Chairman Wilbur Mills of the tax-writing House Ways and Means Committee, who added that "My guess is that the President isn't close to making such a recommendation."

KOMPONG CHAM, CAMBODIA: Wounded Cambodian government troops wait in truck for evacuation from Kompong Cham to a hospital in Phnom Penh last week. The wounded are part of 500 awaiting evacuation to Phnom Penh by helicopter and river convoy. Rebel troops, reportedly pushed out of the battered provincial capital of Kompong Cham, launched twin attacks Thursday against government positions around Phnom Penh. (UPI Telephoto)

Cambodian Town Secure From Rebels

KOMPONG CHAM (AP) — The governor and military commander of this provincial capital, confident his forces had all but secured the city, said Thursday government troops would begin clearing Communist-led insurgents from the outer districts.

Maj. Gen. Sar Hor told newsmen that insurgents still controlled sections of the city's university, the road to the airport and several key points in the western suburbs.

"But in the city there are only isolated enemy elements left," the general said.

Only sporadic mortar and small-arms fire could be heard in Kompong Cham Thursday, but the devastation of the week-long battle for Cambodia's third largest city were widely evident.

Sar Hor said the government suffered 5,000 civilian and military wounded and 1,000 military and civilian dead. He said 20,000 to 30,000 residents were led off by the insurgents, whose casualties he estimated at 2,000 killed or wounded.

Entire city blocks were charged ruins. Sar Hor said there was enough food and water but inadequate medical supplies.

In Phnom Penh, the capital 47 miles to the southwest, the government reported some advances in clearing Phnom Penh's road to the sea. But that road, Highway 4, as well as Highway 5 to rice-rich Battambang Province, remained cut by Khmer Rouge forces.

Kompong Cham, once a rich rubber center and resort town, had a population of about 70,000 before major military operations in the area began.

Suggest Tapes Given To Cox

WASHINGTON (AP) — A federal appeals court suggested Thursday that President Nixon let special Watergate prosecutor Archibald Cox listen to White House tape recordings as a possible means of avoiding a judicial-executive branch showdown in the courts.

Cox quickly agreed to follow the proposed compromise.

The White House had no immediate comment.

Nixon so far has refused to let anyone other than some current and former aides hear the tapes of conversations about the Watergate affair.

He claims the courts have no right to make him turn over the tapes either to Cox or a federal judge for inspection.

The appeals court advanced a suggested compromise by which Nixon, his lawyer, and Cox meet and decide among themselves what parts of the controversial tapes could be submitted to the Watergate grand jury.

The judges cautioned, however, that their compromise proposal did not hint at what course they might take if forced to rule whether Nixon must give up the tapes for inspection.

In an unsigned memorandum, the U.S. Court of Appeals said its compromise would avoid a head-to-head clash between the courts and the President. Nixon claims the judges have no jurisdiction in the case.

The court said that if its suggested compromise fails, it must attack the issues of the case.

The appeals court said, "It appeared to the court that the issues dividing the parties might be susceptible of resolution by procedures other than those set forth" by U.S. Dist. Judge John J. Sirica. He commanded Nixon to turn over nine Watergate-related tapes for private inspection in his chambers.

Tight Security Surrounds Probe

BALTIMORE, Md. (AP) — A special federal grand jury resumed Thursday its investigation of alleged political corruption in Maryland. The panel met amid unprecedented security restrictions enforced by more than two dozen federal marshals.

The marshals sealed off a corridor leading to the grand jury room and to a nearby elevator so witnesses before the panel could come and go undetected. Marshals also kept newsmen out of the courthouse garage. They said they did so on orders of the United States attorney.

Because Vice President Spiro T. Agnew has been implicated in the allegations of kickbacks and conspiracy under investigation by the grand jury, the unprecedented security precautions led to speculation that the panel was entering the Agnew phase of its probe.

But, in Washington, a spokesman for the Justice Department said it wasn't so.

The jurors were not receiving information relating to Agnew, said the spokesman, John W. Hushen. He said the security was "just an outgrowth of a lot of things — the weak security of the Watergate grand jury and the huge number of newsmen milling around there (the federal courthouse in Baltimore)."

Agnew has categorically denied all allegations against him.

Nixon Has Hay Fever

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Nixon disclosed today that he is suffering from "my usual bout with hay fever."

He said that's the reason "my eyes look swollen."

Nixon made his comments about his discomforting ailment — the first time he has publicly acknowledged that he suffers from hay fever — as he was having his picture taken at the start of a meeting with members of the House Ways and Means Committee.

Nixon said he can pinpoint the exact date when his hay fever strikes — Sept. 5 — and it bothers him until the first of October.

Noting that some medical advisers recommended shots, the President said "I find the shots are worse than the hay fever."

A Look Into Our 'Hidden' Economy

America's real gross national product may be far in excess of the figures a host of government agencies keep tabs on.

This is because there is an incalculable volume of "off the books" enterprises operating at all levels of society — the neighborhood baby sitter, the free lance auto repairman, the hustler are examples — says Prof. Louis A. Ferman of the University of Michigan School of Social Work.

This seldom noticed economic system, which he calls the "irregular economy," is most heavily concentrated in poverty areas, where people have less access to well-paying jobs and adequate goods and services than members of society at large.

Ferman and his wife, sociology Prof. Patricia R. Ferman of Eastern Michigan University, are preparing a book on the irregular economy, to be released late this year.

The existence of two side-by-side economic systems first came to their attention 15 years ago during research among 20 "hard-core" unemployed residents of the Detroit ghetto. They had hypothesized that these people would be alienated and withdrawn from society, engaged in occasional job-seeking and leisure pursuits.

To their surprise, they found that most of them were working regularly, if in an irregular way. Some were in criminal activities, such as prostitution or narcotics, but most worked at such conventional jobs as gardening, handicrafts, home repair or the selling of low-priced goods.

Further investigation has confirmed the existence of informal, sometimes invisible, occupation networks within many low-income communities. The majority of the work is not criminal, but it is illegal, since it goes unreported for licensing or tax purposes.

Jobs in the irregular economy thus offer some major advantages over jobs in the regular economy.

They are not accountable to any legal authority, since no records are kept of them. The earnings tend to be larger and more predictable since no taxes are deducted. And since the worker can accept or reject jobs as he pleases, he enjoys a control over his economic fate unparalleled by most conventional employment.

Ferman stresses that the irregular economy is ancillary to the regular economy, not distinct from it. Some goods and services may even shift from one economy to the other, as liquor did after the repeal of Prohibition.

Although the irregular economy also operates to some extent in middle-class suburbs, in the ghetto it's more likely to be a survival mechanism.

It offers, says Ferman, the only means by which some residents "maintain a level of existence similar to that of regular society." It is a means of redressing inequities.

Connecticut Shows The Way

Connecticut has taken a commanding lead among the states with its plan for a statewide solid waste recycling program. At present only about five per cent of the state's garbage and trash is recovered for further use. The hope is to increase this figure to 60 per cent by 1985.

This ambitious undertaking is no mere pie-in-the-sky dream. The state will build 45 collection centers from which solid waste will be shipped to "resource recovery" plants. Ten of these will be built in various parts of Connecticut at the rate of one a year, starting in 1976.

The resource figures involved are impressive. Officials anticipate recovering 72,000 tons of iron and steel, 47,000 tons of glass and 4,000 tons of aluminum in the first full year of operation. They figure that by the time the program is in full swing 12 years hence they will recover, as the Associated Press has put it, "enough iron and steel to build 200,000 automobiles, enough glass to make 450 million bottles, 23,000 tons of aluminum and enough energy to generate 10 per cent of Connecticut's energy needs."

The operating cost will be impressive, too—about 50 million dollars a year. It is expected, however, that user fees and the sale of recycled waste will make the program self-supporting. That in addition to ending the problems that go with today's methods of dumping and burning waste. Other states would do well to emulate Connecticut's enlightened approach.

U.S., China Likely To Clash In U.N. On Korea

By GEORGE BRIA
Associated Press Writer
UNITED NATIONS, N.Y.
(AP) — A U.S.-China confrontation on the future of Korea promises to overshadow the annual fall session of the General Assembly in a complex test of evolving superpower relationships. The Soviet Union finds itself on the Chinese side in a rare show of togetherness. Japan is also deeply concerned with the destiny of its former colony that became a divided nation after World War II. The session opens next Tuesday with the admission of the two Germanys, a historic event carefully orchestrated by the Big Four conquerors of the Nazis. But no close harmony of East-West detente surrounds the Korean issue and its bag of black memories.

The dispute will measure the skill of the American team to be led, if the Senate confirms him, by Henry A. Kissinger. His first appearance here as secretary of state would be a high point of the 15-nation assembly also interested in his views on the Middle East.

With their year-old unification talks deadlocked, North and South Korea are pressing widely divergent demands hinged to the future of the U.N. Command and its 40,000 U.S. troops still guarding South Korea 20 years after the Korean War.

North Korea wants the troops out and Korea admitted to the United Nations as a single member after eventual unification. South Korea, in a dramatic turn of policy, has proposed dual membership along the German pattern. The troops would stay in some form or other — if need be, under separate U.S.-South Korean accords.

With China and the Soviet Union opposed, diplomats see no chance of dual membership for this year at least. But all expect sharp conflicts breaking out in the search for new directions on a problem long unresolved. As an opener, the 23-year-old U.N. Commission for the Unification and Rehabilitation of Korea, has already recommended its own dissolution.

It will be the first time that the United Nations for its military intervention in the Korean War, will take part in a Korean debate since Peking replaced Nationalist Chinese Taiwan here in 1971.

On the Middle East, diplomats are looking for what the United States has in mind to underscore the "high priority" label that President Nixon has placed on the solution of the long deadlocked dispute. Secretary-General Kurt Waldheim has just completed his own fact-finding tour of the area with no sign of a breakthrough. What happens may depend on the intense round of talks which U.S. diplomats are expected to hold with the many foreign ministers here for the assembly.

While conceding that Korea looms as the liveliest issue facing the assembly, West European diplomats see the seating of the Germanys as of greater significance.

Together, East and West Germany will contribute more than 8 per cent of the U.N. operating budget, more than making up for the cut from 31.5 to 25 per cent which the United States won last year on its annual contribution.

East Germany will fall in line as just one of the Soviet block of nations. But West Germany, one of the world's most powerful industrial countries, is expected to greatly enhance the influence of the West European contingent.

'New' Arms Race Duel Of Scientists

By RAY CROMLEY
WASHINGTON (NEA) — Defense Secretary James R. Schlesinger's disclosures on Russian missile breakthroughs make it clear the U.S.-Soviet arms race will be more than ever a contest in technology, not numbers.

It will be a duel between scientists.

This will be true whatever treaties are signed and whatever limits imposed.

With numbers becoming less relevant, neither the U.S. nor the U.S.S.R. can afford to ease up scientifically. The laggard could awaken some morning, shocked to find the other nation leaping ahead in a major way-out weapons system which would leave the country which scrimped on science naked and exposed.

The technological race means these things:

A wider variety of strategic and technical weapons, but smaller numbers of each type.

No breakthroughs will give either the U.S. or Russia an advantage for long. There will be an increasing ability in each country to emulate the exploits of the other in quick time. And no one weapon developed by either country will long have the ability to survive counter-measures developed by scientists on the other side of the curtain.

Weapons systems will rapidly grow obsolete as the pace of breakthroughs speeds up.

In summary, there will be a great instability in weapons systems. But curiously enough, this very instability may mean overall a greater international political-military stability or balance of power. For with both nations going all-out scientifically, neither could hold a critical or commanding lead for any significant period.

As evidence of the above reasoning, the Russians are currently running their military scientific laboratories at full tilt and steadily increasing their output. (The computer technology they lack and want from the United States has held them back in pushing military research as fast as they've desired.)

The breadth and imagination of the Soviet missile program was what surprised Defense Secretary Schlesinger more than the immediate technical advance in Soviet missiles.

U.S. military laboratories, too, have been going ahead full steam on dramatic new techniques in guidance, the use of lasers and in low-flying missiles less subject to radar detection.

The current arms talks are aimed at limiting quality as well as numbers. But technology is like water: Dammed in one direction, it will keep searching until it finds another path. There is simply no way of writing an agreement which can hold back technological advances — at least in the present state of the world.

What must be remembered is that this country has served notice, for obvious reasons, that we will sign no agreement which cannot be verified. Since the Soviet Union will not permit on-site inspection, in practical terms this means we will only agree to restrictions which can be seen and measured by spy satellite.

What goes on in research laboratories can't be measured by satellite. A good deal of the follow-on development work can be hidden or disguised. In most cases we are able to learn about major new weapons and their characteristics only when they are flight-tested or otherwise displayed.

By such time, this could require a considerable amount of catching up. That catching up period could be a hairy one indeed unless the country catching up has continued to develop a formidable amount of the far-out technology needed to meet any unexpected developments.

The changing world described above does not necessarily mean major increases in defense expenditures. It does, however, require an imaginative rechanneling of defense funds and a rigid weeding out of "good" projects of secondary importance.

Ann Landers:

Not Willing To Share Husband With Widowed Lady Friends

Dear Ann Landers: Will you please print this letter as a favor to every middle-aged woman with widowed lady friends and a handy husband?

Dear "Alone" (which is the way you like to describe yourself): I humbly suggest that you look in the yellow pages of your phone book when you want work done around the house — instead of calling the husband of a friend. You have created more arguments than you will ever know. At the moment I can think of at least three major jobs (and ten minor ones) that need attending to but my husband can't get around to them because he has been going to YOUR house to do your chores.

When your husband died I asked you to call on me if you needed help, but I didn't mean I would share my husband with you. These days time is more important than money. I don't know how much more I have left. It burns me up when my husband leaves me alone for four hours at a stretch because he is at your house doing things you could hire done. I am reaching you through Ann Landers' column because I know you read her every day. If you think I mean you, I DO.

— Shunted and Resentful

Dear S. and R.: Here's your letter but don't expect it to solve the problem. That woman didn't kidnap your husband. He goes to her house because he wants to. When you find out WHY, you might figure out a solution to the problem.

Dear Ann Landers: My husband and I have been happily married for 20 years. We have two teenage children. Three months ago Chris was in a depressed mood and confessed he had been in love with another woman "all his life." They have been corresponding for years (unknown to me, of course). It came as a complete shock. He gave me no hint that ours was not a perfect marriage. A few weeks ago Chris went to see this woman (for half an hour) after not having seen her for 21 years. When he told me of the "impetuous visit" I was stunned. I promptly telephoned the woman (long-distance) and asked what had been going on. She replied, "Absolutely nothing. I didn't want him 21 years ago and I don't want him now. Our correspondence has always been completely platonic." I believe her.

My husband has promised he will never see her again and there will be no more letter writing. He refuses to go to a psychiatrist because he says nothing is wrong with him. I now feel very resentful and hate for him to touch me. He has been leading a double life, mentally if not physically, and I am in a state of confusion as to why he had to behave so dishonestly.

— Needing Peace of Mind

Dear N.: When you can accept the fact that your husband's fantasies are a symptom of his immaturity and no reflection on you, you'll have the peace of mind you seek. He needs your love and reassurance now more than ever. I hope you can supply both in abundance. Your marriage might depend on it.

Dear Ann Landers: I was amused by your definition of Lace Curtain Irish: "People who have fruit in the house when nobody's sick." One of your readers added another line: "and flowers when nobody's dead."

When I was in Ireland recently, I heard a better one: "The women are virgins until they marry — and the men afterwards." — Roger Ebert, Sun-Times Movie Critic

Mongolia Displeased With China

MOSCOW (AP) — Mongolia has charged that Chinese troops repeatedly trespass on its territory to carry out photo reconnaissance and kill cattle. An article in the Mongolian paper "Utga Dzhohiol Urag" — Literature and Art — also accused the Chinese of sabotaging the Mongolian economy, "forced assimilation and ruthless repression" of Mongolians living in China and developing a fifth column among more than 7,000 Chinese citizens living in Mongolia.

Sandwiched between China and the Soviet Union, Mongolia has been a Soviet satellite since a revolution in 1921 aided by the Red Army. It was a Chinese province until 1911.

"The Maoists systematically violate the state frontier of the Mongolian People's Republic and concentrate large armed forces along it," said the article in Utga Dzhohiol Urag.

"In the period from 1969 to July 1973, the Chinese conducted 151 military exercises in the frontier zone, at no time more than 50 yards from the border. In the same period there were more than 8,000 instances of explosions and artillery fire by Chinese army units.

"Direct violations of the M.P.R. frontier are also committed. Despite repeated protests from the Mongolian side, Chinese soldiers and officers deliberately cross into Mongolian territory, at times penetrating as deep as 10 to 12 miles, carry out photo reconnaissance, open fire at herds of cattle, and kill rare species of animals protected by law."

"Needless to say, under the circumstances we have no alternative but to strengthen our defenses, in particular to safeguard our frontiers, and this diverts a great deal of energy and funds from peaceful construction."

River Trip For Cave-Canoeist Buffs, 14 To 21

High school and college age young people, 14 to 21 years of age, interested in caving and canoeing, are invited to the Visitors Night for Explorer Post 107, to be at 7 p.m. Monday, Sept. 17th, at Grace United Methodist church, sponsor for the troop.

There will be color slide films shown of some of the many trips taken last year, Current River, Buzzard, Stillhouse and Cameron caves, all in Missouri and Buckner Cave in Indiana.

There are a limited number of memberships open in the Troop and the vacancies will hopefully be filled at the meeting Monday.

Plans are made for a three-day camping and canoeing trip to start Friday, Oct. 12th, to Eleven Point River in Missouri, near the Arkansas border. The cost per person of $20 includes all expenses, except food.

Eleven Point river is similar to Current River, in that it has crystal clear water and is hidden in a deep valley, lined by mountain-sized hills and cliffs, heavily forested. The area is considerably more remote and primitive than the Current River.

There is an old-time water mill to be viewed by those eager to hike a mile trek uphill on the side stream to Greer spring. Greer is the second largest spring in Missouri and erupts several million gallons of water daily.

The group will canoe 28 miles downstream and camp two nights in the wilds.

Mrs. Karen Havlin is the new woman advisor and will accompany the group in October. She will be accompanied by her family and take back-packing trips into the mountains, of value to those exploring for Indian relics. There are also a few openings now for other men and women adult advisors. All interested persons are invited to the meeting Monday night.

Court Casts Barbs At Demo Convention

CHICAGO (UPI)—The Illinois Court of Appeals has ruled that ousting Chicago Mayor Richard J. Daley, and his delegation from their seats at the 1972 Democratic National Convention is "an absolute destruction of the democratic process."

The state appeals court Wednesday blasted the convention's decision to kick out the Daley group of Democrat "regulars" and seat instead a 59-member delegation led by Chicago Ald. William Singer and the Rev. Jesse Jackson.

The Daley delegates were elected in the Illinois primary. The Singer-Jackson group was later nominated at caucuses of anti-Daley Democrats.

Funeral Home with the Rev. Harold Woodworth and the Rev. James Shanks officiating. Interment will be in Memorial Lawn cemetery.

The family will meet friends at the funeral home 7 to 9 p.m. Friday.

"We think the convention... was without power or authority to deny the elected delegates their seats in the convention and most certainly could not seat people of their choice and force them upon the people of Illinois... contrary to their elective mandate," the court said.

"Such action is an absolute destruction of the democratic process of this nation and cannot be tolerated."

In its unanimous decision, the court upheld two injunctions issued by Circuit Court Judge Daniel Covelli before the 1972 convention.

One injunction forbade the Singer delegates to take seats at the convention and the other prohibited the challenge group from participating in a caucus to select delegates for the Democratic National Committee.

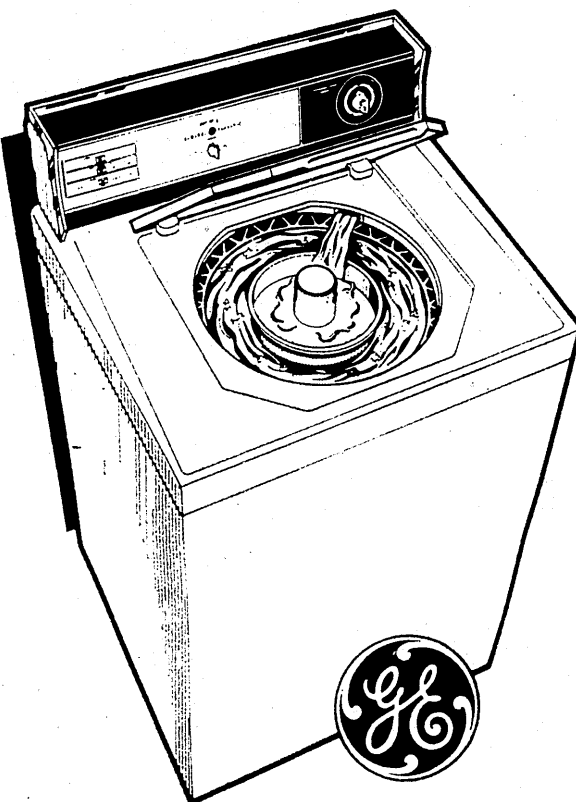

The challenge delegates defied the court orders and took seats after the convention at the climax of a long floor fight.

THE DOCTOR SAYS Multiple Sclerosis Cause Isn't Known

By Lawrence E. Lamb, M.D.
Dear Dr. Lamb — Just what is multiple sclerosis, and how does it affect the body? Is there any real help for it?

Dear Reader — This is a tough one to describe for you. It can cause a wide variety of symptoms. The problem is located in the sheath that surrounds nerve cells. This outer sheath is essential to the normal function of the cell. In multiple sclerosis this sheath degenerates, and the cell doesn't function properly.

The cells affected are not all in one location in the nervous system. Multiple sclerosis can affect different spots of nerve cells in a patchy-like distribution. Many diseases of the nervous system affect only specific cells. A brain tumor, for example, may affect cells in one spot. Since the cells involved can be identified with a particular body function, a good neurologist (brain specialist) can often fairly accurately locate the spot involved by the tumor. A stroke may affect the tongue and swallowing mechanisms, which would mean that specific areas of the brain are damaged, and the artery involved in the stroke can be identified.

These nice systematic evaluations are not always possible in multiple sclerosis because numerous unrelated areas of the brain may be involved. This, in itself, is one clue to the diagnosis.

Multiple sclerosis may cause problems with vision, speech, or muscle coordination affecting body movements. Weakness of the arms and legs is a common finding. Muscular weakness may progress to paralysis. When the lower legs are involved urinary complaints are common.

There are a number of factors which appear to precipitate some attacks, even including flu. But, there's no clear-cut identification of factors which may precipitate an attack.

The cause of multiple sclerosis is not known. A recent suggested cause is a small slow acting virus that, over a period of years, produces its effects. In my own medical career there have been multiple theories advanced for the cause of multiple sclerosis, and to date none have been established as the real cause for the disease.

It's difficult to evaluate the effectiveness of treatment because many patients have spontaneous remissions and get along well without any manifestation of any problem for long periods of time. The disease can be severely disabling, or it can be more of an intermittent inconvenience. There is no way to be certain how severe the disability is going to be, whether it is going to progress rapidly or not, and each case is different.

It's important for anyone who has such a problem to have continuous careful medical supervision. A great deal can be done to help individuals with this problem, but I must also say that there are no specific cures. To show you some of the problems that the medical profession deals with in trying to tell you what to expect with this type of disease, the life expectancy varies from a few weeks to over 50 years after the problem has been diagnosed, and that's quite a long range.

An Adventure In Northwest Almost Turns To Disaster

By Charlene Daniels

MT. STERLING—The dream of many years fell short of expectation for Steve Gerrish of Mt. Sterling who hoped to travel the Northwest with a friend and see country that is believed never before visited by white men. A previous account of the plans was published in an article in this paper, written by the Mt. Sterling correspondent. At that time it told what Gerrish and his friend, Ken Phipps of Chicago, would be doing.

Plans went according to pattern for the two with travel by auto to Yellow Knife in the Northwest Canadian Territory, then by plane to Muskox Lake, the start of the Black River. This is about 1,200 miles North of the border of the United States.

The second day out on the river the picture changed for the two. Phipps, riding in a kayak boat, hit a boulder in the rapids. This destroyed the boat and much of his equipment was lost. This completely changed plans for the two. For two days the young men remained at the site, gathering wood for fires and deciding what to do.

Phipps. The Mt. Sterling man took with him a gun, fishing rod, 60 pounds of equipment and 15 pounds of food, this in addition to his boat, which weighed 72 pounds. All of this he must transport, when the occasion demanded, supposedly during a 30 day period.

Alone now Gerrish allowed himself only 15 minutes for cooking his food each day. This was done with cooking, or fuel oil.

The wilderness was vast, the terrain rocky and the only vegetation was the moss cover. The area was completely surrounded with water, the many rivers emptying into large lakes. This made it difficult to guess one's location and Gerrish was forced to climb cliffs to sight a landmark, and continue on in the proper direction.

A compass does not work that close to the magnetic pole, he explains. The temperature range was from a hot 85 to freezing rain. His clothing was wet for 2 to 3 days at a time. At night he slept on a sleeping bag, protected by a tarp. It was never really dark at any time, the light only deepened to a dusk. There was a great loneliness, intensified by lack of vegetation except for the ever present moss, there was no noise, with exception of an occasional flock of geese or birds. There were a few wild animals, and some Caribou.

Where the water was shallow, he had to pull the boat and jump from rock to rock to make any headway at all, and then return and bring up his gear from the rear.

En route he passed two parties and went ashore to await one group. They had made previous plans for a plane pickup and they included Gerrish in the arrangement. The flight was to an Eskimo settlement at Baker Lake.

At this point Gerrish contacted Canadian Mounted Police and help was sent to Phipps. Water was plentiful and he drank straight from the clean streams. A misfortune was losing his life jacket in a narrow escape during a bad storm. He battled 8 foot high waves and the boat was tossed around like a feather, covering everything with water. At this time he had to paddle for his life to escape striking boulders that could mean death.

The trip to rescue the Chicago man cost $500, and he then made arrangements to return to his home in Northern Illinois.

Gerrish decided the odds on successfully completing his adventures were to his disadvantage and he abandoned the plans. He spent a week at Baker's Lake and worked as a carpenter, visited with the natives and even spoke before some school classes, and with the teachers and a nurse there. The Eskimos fed him their traditional diet, fish and Caribou.

Being unable to take his boat from the area by plane he made a deal with a pilot, gave him the boat and got a free ride to Prince Albert, Saskatchewan. From there he went by bus to Winnipeg, then on to the States through Minneapolis and finally to Mt. Sterling and the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles J. Gerrish.

On Sept. 17th he will enter University of Illinois School of Medicine.

Quality Of Our Dental Care Not Up To Snuff

Business Today
By LEROY POPE
UPI Business writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — More than 16 per cent of all dental treatment in American appears to be inferior and around 18 per cent of it unnecessary, according to the head of a firm that assesses the quality of dental and medical care for insurance companies.

Samuel X. Kaplan, president of United States Administrators of Los Angeles, told United Press International much of the unnecessary work is plain gouging by dentists.

He said in one controlled study of a plan covering 34,000 families in Southern California his company had to get corrections on 24 per cent of all the treatment plans submitted by dentists for insured persons.

Kaplan's firm works with companies that insure dental treatment on a basis that requires the insurance company to approve the dentist's work both before it is performed and afterwards. United States Administrators has its own board of dentists to make such assessments.

Dental Fee Saved
Kaplan cited his firm's work for a Southern California insurer called Laborers' Health & Welfare Trust. He quoted James Crowell, chairman of the trust, as saying Kaplan's company had saved it $139,000 in dental fees in fiscal 1973. Kaplan said his firm also helped increase the maximum yearly individual benefits under the plan to $1,000 from $600 and eliminated the $25 a year family deductible.

In 6 per cent of the Laborers' Trust cases, Kaplan's firm increased the amount of work and the dentist's fees; in the other 18 per cent, it cut them sharply.

Kaplan started his company in 1966 to make quality assessments for insurance companies on the filling of pharmacist prescriptions for the insurance company's policyholders. He then moved into dental and medical quality assessment. Dentistry is the company's main activity today.

Kaplan said his work has produced some emotional confrontations with persons in the dental world.

Dental Work Assessed
"I have been threatened with being beaten up and shot," he said.

"But the threateners calm down quickly when I invite them to sue us," he said. "They simply don't want the publicity a lawsuit would bring them. We haven't been sued yet." Kaplan's company has contracts to assess the quality of dental work for 250,000 persons covered by insurance plans. His dental technicians examine about 3,500 X-rays.

Kaplan predicts independent quality assessment of dental and medical practice will be increasingly demanded by insurance companies. "In dentistry there will be much quality assessment of proposed treatment in advance as well as assessment of the completed work. Independent advance assessment is more difficult in medicine and surgery but it can be done," he said.

Car Seat Footprints Are Hard To Remove

By POLLY CRAMER
Polly Problem

DEAR POLLY — My son,
3, walks across the front seat of my car when he gets in or

out. I have tried using upholstery cleaners and spot removers on these fabric covers he soils but nothing has helped.
Can these seats ever be cleaned

You're Showing Your Age, If...

By HAL BOYLE

NEW YORK (AP) — You may not be quite ready to answer that roll call up yonder yet, but there's no hiding the fact that you're an old-timer if:
You still keep in your clothes closet an old outer coat or sport jacket you wore before Pearl Harbor.

Common sense is the virtue you value most highly because you see it so seldom in people.

Cocktail parties make you sleepy, and you no longer go up and talk to strange blondes at them.

As a matter of fact, you rarely speak to any woman at all, including your wife, unless she speaks to you first.

You've quit taking exercises to pep you up because they tire you out.

The barber hasn't tried to sell you a bottle of hair lotion for 10 years.

You'd rather take a quiet walk in a country cemetery and look for unusual epitaphs on tombstones than go to an expensive night club and gawk at the celebrities.

There are now more things in your life that make you yawn than make you laugh.

It amuses you to see a small child pick its nose, and it doesn't occur to you at all to tell the kid to stop it.

Somewhere in your desk is a tentative draft of the epitaph you have written for yourself, but you doubt it will ever be carved in stone, as it is 40 words longer than Lincoln's Gettysburg Address.

You never chewed bubble gum in your youth because it hadn't appeared on the scene yet.

If you had to, you could probably still strum "Sweet Adeline" on a mandolin. Certainly you're the only one on your block who remembers all the words to the tune.

You are not as afraid of death itself as you are afraid of dying.

The doctor and you share an unspoken secret — the knowledge that there is no real cure for what ails you: the simple erosion of time.

But you go right on taking a patent medicine the doctor didn't prescribe and doesn't know about.

When you see three male teen-agers approaching, you cross to the other side of the street. Better be safe than sorry.

Yep, old-timer, there's no doubt about it — you're an old-timer.

again?—NANCY

DEAR POLLY — This Pet Peeve is from one of the many short people who are unable to reach articles on the top shelves in supermarkets. It seems a footstool or something could be provided to help short people who often knock things over trying to reach them or waste time until a sales person can help. Such a stool could hang on a peg out of the way of others when not in use. —
MRS. A. A.

DEAR POLLY — Tell Ruth
my answer for her comes from an antique refinisher. She could put a little toothpaste on the spot on her mahogany table with a clean soft cloth and rub the spot briskly until it disappears. This paste acts as an abrasive but does not mar or damage the finish. Also, she could use cigarette ashes mixed with a little cooking oil to make a paste and rub the spot briskly. Either of these should work.
—JULIA

DEAR GIRLS — The latter method suggested by Julia has been in this column more than once and is an old favorite of mine but I tried the toothpaste method on an old cherry table.
Of course, when the spot is removed and the excess wiped off, the top must be polished or waxed as usual. Try an inconspicuous spot first as there are so many furniture finishes.—POLLY

DEAR POLLY — A metal shoe horn kept in the kitchen comes in very handy for easily prying off the lids on cocoa, spice and other such cans. If you are going to replace a fuse, attach your vacuum cleaner to one of the dead outlets and when the vacuum motor starts, you know you have replaced the proper fuse. During the blooming season I take colored snapshots of my perennial plants and beds. When trans-planting time comes I know how to arrange the colors. —
MARGARET

DEAR POLLY — When you have enough scraps of leftover soap to make a nice size bar, drop it all in a nylon stocking,
tie together, put a pretty cord on it (to hang by) and have a nice sudsy bar of soap for tub or shower. Hot water will soften the soap so the rough edges can be smoothed down and shaped.

The nylon covering makes a really good scrubber. — MRS.
E. E. H.

When Tristram de Lyonesse arrived at King Arthur's court he had already established a reputation as the best knight in Cornwall. What wasn't known was that he also was a top bridge player.

This gave him a chance to work a beautiful swindle against none other than Sir Lancelot the first time he got into the game.

Sir Gareth, sitting East, overtook Tristram's jack of hearts with the queen and continued with the 10 and ace.

Tristram proceeded to ruff his partner's good heart in order to lead a diamond.

If Tristram had not made this play, Lancelot would have laid down his ace of spades when he got in and then finessed against Tristram's queen after the jack dropped.

As it was Lancelot gazed long and hard against the country bumpkin who had already shown his prowess with sword and shield. Could he be equally good with cards?

Finally, Lancelot decided that Tristram never waste a trump if he held an honor. He did play his ace of spades, but after Gareth's jack dropped Lancelot tried to drop the queen with dummy's king.

Here's
The Answer

By ANDY LANG
AP Newsfeatures

Q. — I have just bought a house and intend to start a home workshop. As I have read many times that a portable electric drill is a necessity for work around the house, I have been shopping for one, but I am puzzled by the different sizes — 1/4 inch, 3/8 inch, 1/2 inch and 3/4 inch. I have my eye on a 3/4-inch drill, but so often when I buy something I find later that I should have bought a larger size. Would I be better off buying a 1/2-inch drill to start with?

A. — No. Not unless you intend to use the drill professionally, which is why such drills are manufactured. Even a 1/2-inch drill is not the most popular of home models, since it is meant mainly for heavy duty use seldom required in work around the house. Also, it is rather heavy when used steadily. Select the 3/4-inch drill you like. It's a good choice.

Q. — A few weeks ago you advised someone about how to find the studs inside a wall by banging on the wall with the side of the fist. I have tried it many times since then without result. I know that a hollow sound means there is no stud at that point and that a solid sound means there is a stud there. Something must be wrong with me because I seem to hear the same sound no matter where I bang my fist. Isn't there some other way to locate studs?

A. — There's nothing wrong with you. Some persons seem to get the hang of locating studs this way very quickly. Others never do. You probably noticed that I said the first method was only one of several used to find studs inside a wall. Try this one. Since most studs are spaced 16 inches apart on center — that is, 16 inches from the center of one to the center of the next — measure approximately 16 1/4 inches inward from one end of the wall. Directly below that point, a couple of inches above the baseboard, drill a hole. You'll know instantly whether the bit has gone through the plaster or gypsum board into a stud or has merely ended in space. If the latter, try again an inch or so away. When you have located a stud, the hole or holes in the wall can be filled with patching plaster so as to be un-noticed. There is one precaution. Don't do any drilling, in this or any other instance, where you suspect there might be electric wires.

(If you are a home handyman, you'll want a copy of Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to this newspaper at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J. 07666.)

Film Rating System Finally Being Accepted

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The five-year-old film rating system has been criticized by outraged religionists and confused parents. But the system's parent, Jack Valenti, claims that the ratings have reached their highest level of acceptance.

Valenti, former White House aide and now president of the Motion Picture Association, announced results of a nationwide survey of 2,600 Americans:

—55 per cent of all citizens found the ratings useful, a rise of 11 points over 1972.

—64 per cent of regular moviegoers found the ratings useful, a nine-point rise.

"This survey by Opinion Research Corp. shows that in spite of the flaws in the rating system, people like it," Valenti said.

The most encouraging part of the survey is the indication that after five years the ratings have accomplished almost saturation in public awareness. Eighty-seven per cent of the total public was aware of the ratings, and 96 per cent of the movie-going public. With teenagers who go to the movies, it was 97 per cent.

The ratings were instituted in November, 1968 after Valenti took over as head of the association. For a half-century, there had been no restrictions on theater attendance in America.

When film makers sought more freedom to deal with adult subjects, Valenti introduced the tag of "Suggested for Mature Audiences." Movies became more mature — and sexier — and the rating system was established. Films are classified G (general audiences), PG (parental guidance), R (restricted, children must be accompanied by adult) and X (children forbidden).

There was confusion in the early years of the ratings. The second rating was changed from M to GP to PG. Some citizens thought the G meant a children's picture (not necessarily). Others thought the X denoted a porno film (not necessarily).

"One of our biggest problems has come from the fact that the X is the end of the line," said Valenti. "Many people do not differentiate between an X for a genius like (Stanley) Kubrick and an X for a two-bit porno maker."

Another problem has been the public's failure to distinguish the reputable film companies from the porno makers.

"Our companies don't make obscene films," Valenti declared. "But many people lump all film makers with the kind of people who make 'Deep Throat.' A public relations campaign to correct that notion would be difficult to achieve."

PATHWAY SCHOOL NEEDS YOUR HELP

On The House

By ANDY LANG

AP Newsfeatures
No matter how many screwdrivers you have around the house, the time always comes when you need one of a size or type you don't have.

While the average household cannot be expected to have on hand the dozens of available kinds on the market, it nevertheless should have at least three or four and, if there is a home workshop, about seven or eight.

If properly taken care of, a set of good screwdrivers can be expected to last for many years, in many cases what is loosely called a lifetime. The reason they seldom last more than a year or two is because they often are used more as substitutes for other tools than as screwdrivers. Among such uses are prying up metal staples, unsticking windows, loosening the lids of cans, punching holes in metal and dozens of other quickie projects for which the screwdriver was never intended.

To use a screwdriver properly, assuming you are right-handed, hold the handle in the palm of your right hand with the thumb and forefinger grasping the handle near the ferrule. Steady the tip of the screwdriver with the left hand and turn with the right until the screw has taken hold. Be sure the screwdriver is in a direct, straight line with the screw. You won't have to think about the individual actions after you have done it properly a few times.

A screwdriver which is not the right size can cause trouble. If the tip of the blade is too small for the slot in the screw, it will damage the screw and often prevent it from being driven all the way. It then has to be removed, sometimes with great difficulty, and a new screw started. If the tip of the blade is too wide or if it is rounded or beveled, it will slip out of the slot, which can mean a damaged work surface or an injured hand.

When the tip is rounded or beveled, a flat file can be used to restore it to usefulness. Place the handle of the screwdriver in a vise, with the tip of the blade upwards. File the tip straight across at right angles to the shank. While an emery wheel can be used to get the same result, be sure the blade is not held against the wheel too long or the tip will become soft as it heats up. Whether filing or using an emery wheel, dip the tip of the screwdriver into cold water frequently.

Use an awl to make a pilot hole in wood before driving home the screw. This is especially important when inserting a screw into hard wood.

Among the types of screwdrivers available are the Phillips, the ratchet, the spiral and the offset. You might hold off buying the latter three until you have need for them, but the regular and Phillips screwdrivers should be in the home workshop in several sizes.

Blueboys To Test Several Newcomers

Illinois College opens its 77th season of intercollegiate football with a 1:30 p.m. game Saturday against Knox College at Galesburg.

Coming off a 1-8 season, the Blueboys will test new material. Coach Joe Brooks has five first-year men in his defensive starting lineup, and there are at least six additional newcomers who are rated as contenders for regular berths with either the offense or defense.

The offensive eleven will probably be composed entirely of lettermen — eight of them starters in last year's first contest against Knox.

Craig Weber, London Mills (Valley) junior who was the starting signal caller in each 1972 contest, is back at the helm, and his backfield includes returning regulars Ron Summers, Meredith, one of the of the Blueboys' all-time best rushers, and fullback Robin Vidakovich, Wood River. The other halfback will be Mike Watkins, Normal (Stanton), who saw extensive action last fall and started several games.

At ends, Brooks has named Phil Tuman, Fox River Grove (Barrington) junior, who took over as a starter in fourth game last year, and Dave Behrle, Arnold, Mo. (Fox) senior, a starter on either offense or defense through most of his collegiate career.

The offensive line is composed of four 1972 starters and Jim Welch, Cuba senior tackle, who played primarily on defense last year. The returnees include: Keith Crum, Bushnell senior, tackle; Reed Bechtel, Vandalia senior, and Doug Goodman, Modesto (Greenfield) senior, guards; and Rod Fralick, Pittsfield sophomore, center. Goodman is locked in a tight battle for a starting assignment with Larry Lauterjung, Chester sophomore, who missed his freshman year because of an early knee injury.

It is on defense that a promising group of freshmen and transfers will get their best opportunity for immediate action. A freshman and a junior transfer student have been named as starters in the secondary, two newcomers are listed at the tackles, and still another freshman will be at right defensive end.

New deep backs are Dan Sullivan, Petersburg (Porta) freshman, younger brother of two-year regular end Bill, and Kurt Koenig, Washington junior, who will be seeing his first action since transferring from University of Illinois, then dropping out of school for a year. They'll be joined by 1972 regulars Bob Nottingham, Petersburg (Porta) junior, and Bob Bieser, Amboy junior.

Freshman Andy Winkelmann, another Petersburg (Porta) product, is listed at right end, opposite Sullivan. Tackles will be Jim Marker, Bement sophomore who transferred from Southern Illinois University between semesters last year, and John Graner, Carrollton sophomore, who did not play in his first collegiate year. Junior Rod Paslay, St. Elmo, is slated to go at middle guard. Linebackers will be returning regulars Bruce Penstone, Pittsfield senior, and Dean Heitz, Rushville junior. Bill Wheeler, Oblong sophomore, also will get plenty of action as a linebacker.

Tom Scott, Jacksonville junior who transferred to I.C. last mid-year, had been tabbed as a starter at offensive end, but has been set back during the past week by a leg injury. Other new players—who will get a long look as soon as possible—are offensive tackles Gene Felchner, Staunton freshman, and Mark Murrin, Danville freshman; Jeff Wessler, Arenzville (Triopia) freshman halfback; and John Lee, Virden freshman middle guard.

Knox scored three times in the final quarter last year to beat the Blueboys, 28-0, at Jacksonville. It was first meeting of the two schools since 1934. With the loss, the Blueboys still hold a 6-5-1 all-time edge in the series.

Not much is known about Knox, except that Coach Al Reilly has a host of returnees, and believes that his passing attack will be improved.

Jacksonville High School's weekend football opponent is of the unknown species, while Routt High and Illinois School for the Deaf might be excused for not wanting to know what they do about their foes.

In the weekend previously reserved for Illinois prep openers, JHS and Routt get their second taste of 1973 action, with ISD beginning its campaign.

The Rockets and ISD will be meeting familiar teams, with the Crimsons' opponent is a real first-timer. Granite City North will not only be playing its first game of the season and first against JHS, it will be the school's first football game ever.

Granite City North, with an enrollment of 1,700, is a new school, break-away from Granite City High after last season. Coach Tom Wrostek's crew has 42 candidates on the varsity level, only three who lettered at Granite City High last year, where a 6-4 mark was registered.

On his squad, Wrostek commented this week, "We really don't know anything about the quality of our team until we play. We are certainly very young and inexperienced, and being the first year for the school it is hard to get things going this early. We will just have to wait until we get game experience. We can't go that much by practice. We had Jacksonville scouted last week and they have a pretty good offensive club. They like to pass."

The Friday 8 p.m. game will be played on the Granite City High Stadium turf on Fehling Road.

Despite dropping a 16-8 decision to Macomb High in the JHS opener, Crimsons coach Gary Spangenberg wasn't discouraged and reports he will go with the same offensive and defensive lineups this evening. Spangenberg also comments that the team came out of the opener with no serious injuries.

Speaking of the Crimsons opener, Spangenberg says, "We had heard Macomb was tough and if they are as tough as we had heard, then we felt our kids put on a good performance. After reviewing the films, we felt we carried out our offensive assignments well with only a few exceptions. As a result we were pleased with our offense even though we didn't score as much as we wanted to."

"On offense we were able to throw the ball like we wanted to. We were not able to run outside and we have worked on that this week. I thought we ran well up the middle against a good middle guard and a big linebacker. On defense we had three missed assignments and their fullback picked up about 60 yards on those three plays. Take that away and I felt we had a good defensive game."

"Jim Waltrip had an outstanding game at linebacker and John Heinzman was strong both ways. Ben Denny had a good game at offensive back and Warren Lewis, for his first game at quarterback, did a real good job. Matt Fearson had a fine catch for our touchdown and Rodney Thompson played well at outside linebacker. We were well pleased, playing with so many new faces."

The Carrollton at Routt contest Saturday evening will match two impressive first-week winners and two clubs expected to be among the strongest in the area this season.

Carrollton, a big, quick and experienced team, opened with a 19-0 count over Mt. Olive. Of that game Coach Steve Bystry says, "I was well pleased with our defense, but our offense wasn't that good. We had some first-game jitters and sputtered at times. I think Routt has a team similar to our club. They are quick and Coach (Larry) Pacotti does a good job there. We haven't beaten them in two years."

Routt will have not more than a couple lineup changes. Guard Dennis Bouselli may move to tackle where Paul Bamman is ailing with a back injury. If Bamman is unable to go, Mark Lemon will move in to guard. Chris Keller will go to defensive tackle if Bamman is sidelined, and David Roth to right defensive end.

"We were very pleased with our win over Rushville (18-14)," says Pacotti. "We were very pleased with our young backfield, which executed well for the first three quarters. With a little more work this week on timing, they should do well again."

"We scouted Carrollton and they are very impressive. They have speed in the backfield, a quarterback who does a real fine job, (Rick) Phillips runs well and (John) Dirksmeyer is a strong tackle. They have speed and experience and good hitting power. It should be a real test for us. We expect a real fine game and it should be good football."

ISD begins the local weekend with a 3 p.m. game against Calhoun, a 32-0 victor over Industry last Friday. Warrior coach Terry Strauch says of the first game, "We thought the defense did a good job. The offense was lacking but Industry used a nine-man line and it was tough to run against them. We also had 105 yards in penalties. We respect ISD as we are only 2-6 against them. We think (J.B.) Ellis and (Tony) Heller are big threats."

ISD Coach Jim Bonds will start eight lettermen in his team's opener, including all veterans in the backfield. "Calhoun looked very strong and are probably even stronger than they looked then," says Bonds. "They have some good running backs, a good quarterback and two big ends. We have a long way to go. We are short on depth and we really don't know what our first team can do. We are anxious to play a game to find out what we have."

Bill Enyart, a former linebacker for the National Football League team, filed the suit in Alameda County Superior Court Thursday. The Eagle Point, Ore., resident was a star fullback for Oregon State University before he joined the Raiders in early 1971.

At Locasale, Raider executive assistant, said the team has not seen the complaint, but that it went through normal grievance channels earlier this year and was turned down.

Enyart alleges in the complaint that he injured his knee Aug. 14, 1971, in a pre-season game against the New York Jets. The complaint says that the team doctors failed to diagnose the seriousness of his injury and gave him medical clearance to play at the end of the 1971 season and in a pre-season 1972 game despite the injury.

As a result of his injury, the complaint says, Enyart will never play professional football again, a diagnosis he did not learn until consulting private doctors after leaving the Raiders.

The frail, little woman spoke by telephone from her apartment, where she lives among the relics and memorabilia of the Golden Twenties when Ruth was the idolized home run king.

She said she had no intention of being on hand when Aaron hits the blow that destroys Ruth's career record of 714 home runs, a mark baseball men once predicted was unreachable.

"I don't know how that report got out," she said. "I never said it. I never intended it. I don't think it's good taste for me to intrude. It takes something away from the dignity of what Mr. Aaron is attempting to do."

"Besides, it has been a dreadful ordeal for me. I have made seven trips in behalf of the Babe Ruth League and everywhere I go there are the same old questions and answers: I am constantly being besieged for interviews and public appearances."

She repeated that no matter how many home runs Aaron or anyone else hits, it cannot dull the luster of the great Babe.

"There is only one Babe," she insisted. "There always will be only one Babe."

BOSTON (AP) — The Boston Red Sox said Thursday they will play a two-night double-header against the Milwaukee Brewers, Friday, Sept. 28 at Fenway Park.

One of the games is a make-up of one rained out in Boston June 29.

Streaking Pirates Put Down Cubs, 6-1

CHICAGO (AP)—"We're jelling at last," said Willie Stargell. "We're making the big plays and getting the key hits."

Stargell got the key hit Thursday as the Pittsburgh Pirates, finally having struggled into first place in the National League East, slapped down the Chicago Cubs 6-1.

Stargell, the National League's leading run producer, doubled home two runs in the first inning and then scored on a single by Rich Hebner. That was all Bob Moose and reliever Ramon Hernandez needed to get the Pirates their third triumph in the vital four game series.

"Coming here and taking three of four was something we had to do," said Stargell. "And we were able to do it. That's what's important."

"It's great to be in first place but we still can't take anything for granted. We'll see what happens but when you're in first place, the other clubs have to catch you."

The triumph stretched Pittsburgh's lead in the National League East to one game over the idle St. Louis Cardinals while the Cubs dropped four games off the pace.

Taking advantage of the first of three Cub errors, the Pirates struck for three runs in the first inning. With one out, Dave Parker reached on shortstop Don Kessinger's throwing error. Al Oliver singled and both runners scored on Stargell's double. Hebner then singled Stargell home.

The Pirates scored a run in the fourth on a pair of walks and an error by second baseman Paul Popovich and added another in the fifth on successive singles by Manny Sanguillen, Bob Robertson and Dal Maxvill. They scored their final run in the eighth inning.

Bob Moose, 11-11, posed his fourth shutout of the baseball season, yielding five hits before giving way to Ramon Hernandez in the eighth.

Kessinger singled in both the first and third innings for the Cubs and Jose Cardenal singled in the second. After Kessinger's single in the third, Moose retired 12 men in a row before Ron Santo doubled with two outs in the seventh.

The Cubs finally broke through for a run in the eighth. Pinch batter Glenn Beckert walked and Rick Monday singled. Ramon Hernandez replaced Moose and fanned Kessinger but Billy Williams singled home a run before pinch batter Jim Hickman ended the inning by grounding into a double play.

The Pirates saddled Milt Pappas with his 12th loss in 19 games.

Pittsburgh added its final run in the eighth inning on doubles by Rennie Stennett and Oliver. The game concluded the season series between the two clubs with Pittsburgh holding a 12-6 edge.

Souvenir Seekers Follow Aaron Path

CINCINNATI (AP) — Hank Aaron's bid for home run immortality has brought out another type of baseball fan—the souvenir seeker.

Cincinnati fans, often noted for their conservative ways, are swarming to Riverfront Stadium with dreams of witnessing—and capitalizing—as Aaron continues his ever-closer countdown to Babe Ruth's all-time home run record of 714.

"I've never seen anything like it," said Dale Stoeber, director of ticket services for the Cincinnati Reds, who will host Atlanta beginning Friday night.

The Atlanta Braves slugger is swelling stadiums around the country as he nears Ruth's record. Aaron, who has hit more homers against Cincinnati than any other club in his 20-year career, opens the three-game series with 710 career homers.

Cincinnati fans are ready and waiting.

—A Cincinnati business firm is offering $1,000, $2,000 and $3,000 for retrieved Aaron home run balls.

—Lovely ladies in halter tops are borrowing their brothers' baseball gloves in hopes of making the catch of their lives.

—Smuggled nets are getting past gate guards as determined fans envision get-rich quick methods.

"We've been selling left field seats in advance for the past month and a half because of the large demand," said Stoeber. "And we've even had requests from as far away as Iowa and New York."

Red-capped attendants are concerned with the safety of the many money-minded fans who have scrambled and dived over seats and railings for an Aaron-hit ball.

"They're crazy," said a Reds' attendant. "Somebody's going to get killed. They all want a piece of history—even if it's a foul ball."

'Cats Face Spartans In Opener

EVANSTON, Ill. (AP) — Northwestern, led by quarterback Mitch Anderson and under the guidance of Johnny Pont, takes on Michigan State and its new coach, Denny Stolz, in a Big Ten football opener Saturday.

Pont, who left Indiana to succeed Alex Agase, inherits a veteran team on offense but figures to have headaches on defense.

Stolz, who took over from Duffy Daugherty, will have a strong defensive unit and will unveil quarterback Charles Ed Flynn's course record of 12:29 with a blazing 12:01 over the 2.5-mile layout. Welch, a junior, was second in Michigan State's 14:20 and Joe Ineich tenth in 14:36.

"They have a new coach and a new quarterback," said Pont. "It's kind of like going in blind."

Although Michigan State's offense might provide some new wrinkles, the Spartans will be strong again on defense especially in the secondary where they have Bill Simpson, Paul Hayner and Mark Nielsen returning.

Also returning will be running backs David Brown, Diamond Mays and Clarence Bullock.

MSU's biggest fear will be Anderson who completed 20 passes for a Big Ten record of 351 yards and two touchdowns last year. However, Michigan State won the game 24-14.

"Anderson set his records in November when it was snowy and blowing," said Stolz. "I hate to think what he can do against us in September."

JHS Depth Nets Dual Meet Edge

HANNIBAL, Mo., High had a record-breaking individual but Jacksonville High School posted superior depth and rolled to a 24-35 cross country dual meet victory at the Jacksonville State Hospital Thursday afternoon.

Hannibal's Steve Welch broke Ed Flynn's course record of 12:29 with a blazing 12:01 over the 2.5-mile layout. Welch, a junior, was second in Michigan State's 14:20 and Joe Ineich tenth in 14:36.

The Crimson's next home meet will be Monday at 4:30 a.m. against Alton High at the State Hospital course.

Bill Flynn finished second in 12:55, followed by teammates Ken Rebstock in 12:58, Kevin Reitehman (fifth) in 13:48 and Guy Friesen 13:48.

Other Crimson finishers in the top ten were John Bellatti eighth in 14:14, David Sabatini ninth in 14:20 and Joe Ineich tenth in 14:36.

Rick Flynn of Jonathan Tupper High was 12th in 15:02, Mike Welch of JHS 13th in 15:10, Bob Fairfield 14th in 15:12, Steve Perkins 16th in 15:23 and Pat McParkland 19th in 16:02.

The Crimson's next home meet will be Monday at 4:30 a.m. against Alton High at the State Hospital course.

Bears To Get Early Test Vs Cowboys

CHICAGO (AP) — The Chicago Bears, trying to rebuild a football dynasty, face the Dallas Cowboys, who are trying to maintain one, in the opening game of the National Football League season Sunday.

The Bears, coming off a 4-9-1 season and a last-place finish in the National Football Conference's Central Division, won three of their six exhibition games and tied two others to raise the hopes of Chicago fans who have been longing for a winner in the decade since the Bears won their last championship.

The main improvement has to come from the offense, where Carl Garrett, obtained from New England in the off season, gives Chicago a breakaway threat they have lacked since Gale Sayers injured his knee. Coach Abe Giron also hopes that tackle Wally Chambers, his first draft pick, can shore up last year's feeble pass rush.

The Cowboys, meanwhile, are hoping that Roger Staubach, who won a battle with Craig Morton for the No. 1 quarterback job, can regain the NFL title they won two years ago. Their opening-game lineup is built around veterans from that team but also includes a liberal sprinkling of newcomers.

The principal change for the Cowboys comes at tight end, where Billy Joe DuPree, their first draft choice, replaces the retired Mike Ditka. Bill Truax, who shared the position with Ditka last year, has been relegated to the taxi squad.

Dallas 4-2 in preseason, will also start five-year veteran D.D. Lewis at one linebacker spot, replacing the retired Chuck Howley, and second-year man Robert Newhouse at fullback, replacing the injured Walt Garrison.

For the Bears, Bobby Douglass will be at quarterback, where he shows signs of staying in the pocket more than he did a year ago, when he rushed for 968 yards, a record for a quarterback. Douglass completed 33.5 per cent of his passes during preseason, a vast improvement over the 37.9 per cent mark he registered a year ago.

Dick Butkus, one of the NFL's premier linebackers, will anchor the defense. Butkus has been having knee problems, but is expected to play.

Cey And Lopes Let LA Survive Late Rally, 8-6

HOUSTON (AP) — Ron Cey's two-run homer and Dave Lopes' two-run double helped Los Angeles survive a three-run Houston sixth inning and lead the Dodgers to an 8-6 victory Thursday night.

Houston took a 3-2 lead after three innings on Cey's error, a double by Jim Wynn and Doug Rader's single. Los Angeles got two runs in the second on Bill Russell's double.

The Dodgers went ahead with a three-run fourth inning when Houston starter Dave Roberts walked pitcher Tommy John with the bases loaded and two out for the tying run, and then yielded the two-run double by Lopes.

Tom Pacionek led off the Dodgers fifth with a double and scored when Cey belted his 14th homer of the baseball season.

The Astros almost pulled it out in their three-run sixth when pinch-hitter Cliff Johnson brought in one run with a single and Wynn scored two more with a double.

Rozelle Releases Ban On Sellouts

NEW YORK (AP) — National Football League Commissioner Pete Rozelle informed a major television network Thursday to lift the ban on televising sold-out home games in the wake of congressional approval of a measure banning blackouts of games sold out 72 hours in advance.

Both the House and the Senate approved the anti-blackout bill Thursday and sent it to President Nixon, who is said to favor such a measure.

Rozelle said earlier in the day he would tell the networks "that we no longer consider them bound by contractual provision with the NFL prohibiting local telecasts of games, providing all seats are sold 72 hours before kickoff."

Rozelle said the NFL intends to adhere "to both the letter and the spirit of this experimental law despite our belief there will be extremely negative results to this legislation."

The commissioner enumerated on what he considered possible negative results of the legislation.

He said: "We feel that during the period of this experiment, it will be shown that a great number of people who purchase tickets will not go to the stadium."

Rozelle also said too much exposure of the sport could be detrimental "by giving the public too much of our sport." Boxing was heavily exposed on television during the 1950s and many blamed that for the decline of the sport.

Both Rozelle and Dallas Cowboys President Tex Schramm said NFL owners could react to such an "overexposure" possibility by going to a single Game of the Week alternative rather than telecast all games on a regional basis.

Rookie's Hit In 10th Inning Lets Birds Win

BALTIMORE (AP) — Rookie Doug Decinces ripped a 10th-inning single, driving home pinch-runner Enos Cabell and lifting the Baltimore Orioles to a 7-6 victory over Milwaukee Thursday night.

Brooks Robinson opened the 10th with a single and Cabell, running for him, advanced to third on two infield outs. After an intentional walk to Merv Rettenmund, Decinces delivered the deciding hit.

The Orioles tied the game with two out in the ninth inning when Milwaukee's Bobby Heise made a double error on Paul Blair's grounder and Tommy Davis followed with an RBI double. It was Davis' fourth hit and third run batted in of the game.

Robinson's two-run single in the eighth had cut the Brewer lead to one run.

George Scott and Don Money ripped three hits apiece for Milwaukee as the Brewers took charge early.

Scott singled his first two times up, giving him six straight hits, including his 4-for-4 in the second game of Wednesday night's doubleheader.

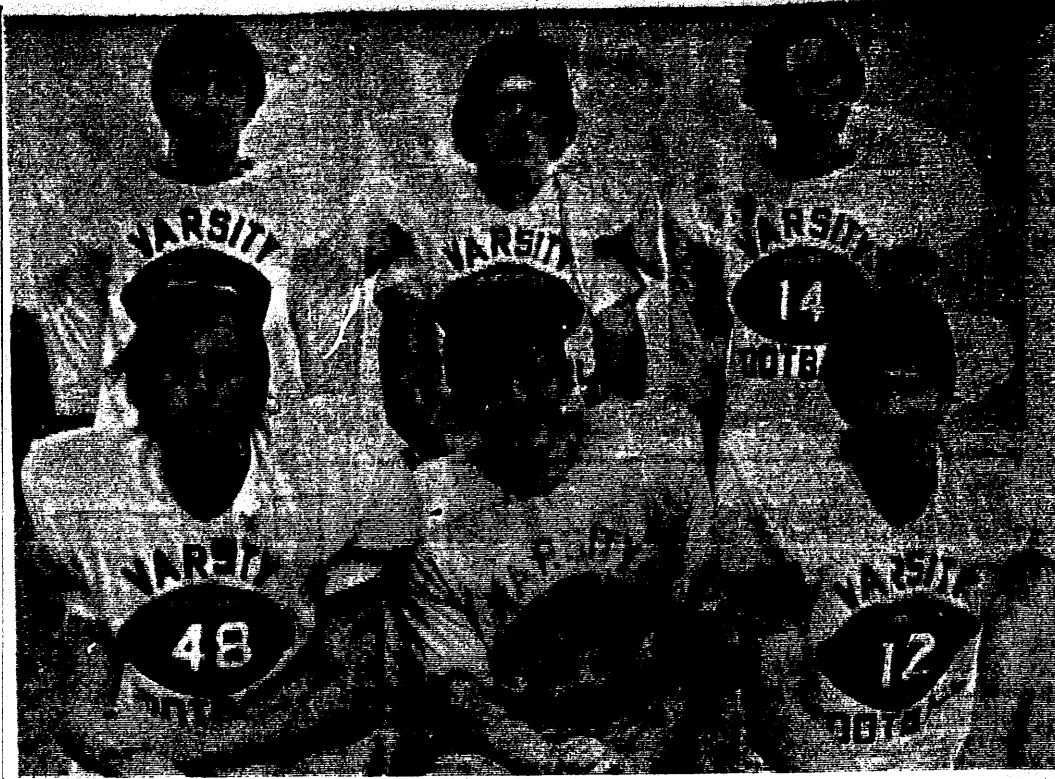

The Brewers tattooed Baltimore starter Mike Cuellar for four runs in 3 1-3 innings, adding two more in the seventh off Wayne Garland, a 22-year-old right-hander making his major league debut.

Champion, Short (6), Sprague (8) and Porter; Cuellar, Garland (4), Reynolds (7) and Elchebarren, Robles (8), W-Reynolds, 7-5. L—Sprague, 0-1.

LONDON (AP) — Allan Heyman, president of the International Lawn Tennis Federation, Thursday warned players who joined the embryonic American-based World Team Tennis group they may be banned from events controlled by the ITF including the Davis Cup.

Heyman said it was "highly improbable the ITF will approve the exhibitions and tournaments planned by World Team Tennis, as these events appear to be in direct conflict with the tournaments in the ITF calendar."

Many of the world's top tennis stars were believed to have been approached by the World Team Tennis to join the group.

Congress Blitzes Local TV Blackouts

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress acted with unusual speed Thursday to pass and send to President Nixon a bill lifting the local television blackouts of pro football games sold out three days in advance.

Nixon, an avid football fan, has advocated a ban on local TV blackouts and has said he would sign the legislation.

Even before the bill becomes law, however, the National Football League indicated it would lift the blackouts, thus permitting some of the owners of the 1973 season Sunday to be seen locally, an unprecedented situation.

The House passed the measure, 336-97, after limited dissent in the debate, primarily from Rep. Jack F. Kemp, R-N.Y., a former pro quarterback. One member voted present.

The Senate, which passed a slightly different version last Thursday by a vote of 76-6, concurred in the House bill by a voice vote a few hours later.

In order to attain the speedy action, a compromise was made early in the day to make the legislation effective for only three football seasons, until Dec. 31, 1975.

The original Senate bill, sponsored by Sen. John O. Pastore, D-R.I., would have limited the legislation to a one-year experiment while the House bill, sponsored by Rep. Torbert H. Macdonald, D-Mass., would have been permanent legislation.

The measure sent to Nixon would cover professional football, basketball, baseball or hockey games telecast under a contract agreed to by the league.

All pro football games are televised under an NFL agreement to contract but only a few games in the other sports are telecast under a national contract.

The bulk of the baseball, basketball and hockey games are telecast under contracts between a team and a local station, although the networks put games-of-the-week, playoffs and championship games on television.

Kemp, who played for the Buffalo Bills before being elected to Congress, made note of the speed with which the House was acting on the measure.

"The last measure that passed this body as quickly was the bill on the Gulf of Tonkin," he said.

Kemp said he opposed the legislation because "it is against the interest of football to give away its product in a city where it is trying to sell tickets."

Using the arguments made by the NFL, Kemp said the legislation will cause "no-shows," fans who buy tickets but do not go to the park, usually in bad weather, but stay home and watch the game on television.

Rep. Robert McClory, R-Ill., called the legislation "a bill to protect the NFL from the networks."

Garrett Boosts New York To 4-2 Win Over Phils

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pinch-hitter Wayne Garrett blooped a 12th-inning single, driving in the tie-breaking run, and the New York Mets topped Philadelphia 4-2 Wednesday night.

The Mets had loaded the bases with one out in the 12th when Garrett batted for pitcher Tom Seaver, 17-9, and loomed an RBI-single to short left field. Moments later, New York added another run on a wild pitch by reliever George Culver.

The Phillies gained a 1-0 lead in the third inning of the baseball game when Denny Doyle singled with one out and Tommy Hutton ripped an RBI double.

New York went ahead 2-1 in the fourth with the help of an unearned run.

With one out, Cleon Jones singled and advanced to second on a single by John Milner. After Jerry Grote flied out, Don Hahn singled to right scoring Jones. Catcher Bob Boone took the throw at the plate, and tried to nail Milner heading for third, but the ball went into left field for an error as Milner continued to the plate.

The Phillies tied it 2-2 in the sixth when Mike Anderson's high chopper dipped between third baseman Ted Martinez' legs and rolled down the left field line for a double. A sacrifice moved Anderson to third. Larry Bowa then hit a fly into short center that fell in front of Hahn and bounced away from the center fielder for a double, scoring Anderson.

HOUSTON (AP) — Bobby Riggs said Thursday that Billie Jean King's illness was a ploy to get his sympathy for their $100,000 winner-take-all tennis match Sept. 20 in the Astro-dome.

But Riggs, 55, the master of the psych-out, says it won't work.

"She's trying to get sympathy from the public and from me because she realizes this is the most important match of her life," Riggs said prior to a speaking engagement.

Mrs. King withdrew from the U.S. Open tournament at Forest Hills and earlier this week underwent blood tests which doctors said revealed she may have hypoglycemia, a blood sugar disorder that is the opposite of diabetes.

"If she does have hypoglycemia, that's not a serious disease," Riggs said. "I've got it myself. I'm sure a lot of people are walking around today with it and don't even know it."

Business—Market Wrapup

Business Mirror

By JOHN CUNIFF
AP Business Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — Again defying the law of supply and demand, as it has for so many years, the securities industry will be raising prices this fall because business is so bad.

So bad that it is losing millions of dollars a month, is laying off help, is closing up some shops. Customers who once were put on hold by their very busy broker now decline to accept his call.

After pleading their case before the Securities and Exchange Commission, the brokers and stock market officials have won the right to raise commissions 10 per cent on orders up to $5,000, and to 15 per cent on bigger orders.

This means a customer who buys 100 shares of a $20 stock will soon be paying $41.80 rather than $38 on the New York Stock Exchange. If he buys 200 shares of a $37.50 stock he will pay $116.73 instead of $101.50.

Such increases aren't likely to solve the problems of this industry, but they might buy time, and time is badly needed. The industry is in a period of transition and is adjusting badly.

The chief shock to members of the old fraternity is the concerted efforts of the SEC and the Justice Department to eliminate the final vestiges of the private club atmosphere that dominated exchanges for years.

The outstanding characteristic of those years was the restriction of competition, especially in regard to commissions, that help nurture firms that might have made a go of it in a completely free enterprise society.

Now, declares the SEC, those days of fixed commissions are over. By April 1975, it declared, brokers will have to fight each other for business by offering better prices as well as superior service.

The increase just granted by the SEC is, therefore, perhaps the final increase to be permitted before the pricing mechanism is turned over to the marketplace, where supply and demand are said to dictate prices.

By that time there will be other changes too. The individuality of the various exchanges will be less pronounced — less clubby too — as the SEC presses for one vast central marketplace for all stocks.

More realism also should be noticeable by then also. The commission you pay today, for example, is considered payment not only for the transaction but for a cluster of other services that are claimed to be included.

You might not be aware of it, for example, but you now pay for advice, for research, for custodial services and the like. In the future there will likely be a trend toward unbundling of services.

The effect of this will be to relieve brokers as well as customers. Some smaller houses cannot compete in the area of research, and they will not have to make that presumption in the future; many customers don't seek advice, and will not have to pay for or listen to it.

Relieved of the burden of posing as both adviser and salesman, an obviously conflicting role, the broker of the future will have an identity that both he and the customer can more easily live with.

American Businessmen Not Export Conscious Enough

By LEROY POPE
UPI Business Writer

NEW YORK (UPI) — By and large American businessmen still are not yet export conscious enough, says Joel D. Honigberg, president of J.D. Honigberg International, a Chicago export managing firm.

The dollar was devalued to make American products more competitive abroad and to help reduce the balance of payments deficit, but Honigberg said a surprising number of American firms simply raised prices to offset the fall of the dollar instead of trying to export more goods.

This works against the national interest, Honigberg said, but it has happened in the electrical, food processing and building machinery industries as well as air conditioning and refrigerating and other industries.

He also said many American businessmen have a defeatist attitude towards exports.

Must Be Unique
"They say American goods can be sold abroad only if they are unique—if the customer can't find them anywhere else," he said.

Honigberg said that's nonsense. It's true that some machine tools and some other American products of a conventional nature are hopelessly overpriced. But unwillingness to cultivate the market abroad and try hard to compete, he said, is the real reason for American failure to export enough.

He said too many American firms are unwilling to meet the special needs of foreign customers.

"For example, customers in some countries want to supply their own motors for motorized machines and some American companies don't want to sell anything less than the complete assembly. You can't have that attitude and hope to expand export sales," Honigberg said. "Customers in some countries want American products in various stages of disassembly in order to save freight charges and perhaps to create assembly jobs in their own countries. We need this business so we should accede to these requests."

One-Stop Deals
Americans still tend to think of exports too much in terms of one-shot high profit deals, Honigberg said. He feels profitable export trade must be built on repeat orders and close personal relationship between the foreign customers and the American manufacturer or his technical and sales representatives.

Americans should realize that the British, French, Germans and Japanese are willing to sell in the international market at smaller profits than American firms have demanded in recent years. They also are far more experienced in cultivating export customers and tailoring products and marketing terms to suit their needs and desires.

"So American business men should start trying hard to make up the difference now if the balance of payments problem is ever to be solved permanently and the dollar is to remain healthy," Honigberg said.

SOYBEAN FUTURES
DECLINE LIMIT

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybean and soybean meal futures declined the allowable limits for one session on the Chicago Board of Trade yesterday.

Wheat, corn and oats futures also were weak but soybean oil was independently firm while soybean meal was irregular.

The selling of soybeans and soybean meal was attributed mostly to the Agriculture Department crop report of two days ago which estimated this year's soybean production at 1.6 billion bushels, some 25 per cent above last year's yield.

All soybean options opened with limit declines. Buyers were very, very scarce and the volume of trade was limited. Within 30 minutes, however, some limited trade developed in distant soybean and meal options.

A good demand by commercial interests maintained soybean oil prices above previous closes after a weak opening.

The liquidation in corn, oats and wheat on the opening also was a continuation of the previous session and appeared to be influenced still by the government report, which also estimated record yields of corn and wheat this year.

After the selling had been absorbed in oats, however, some commission house buying developed and prices strengthened. Wheat and corn continued under selling pressure.

After about an hour, soybeans were 7 to 20 cents a bushel lower, September 6.20; wheat was unchanged to 13¢ lower, September 5.01; corn was 3¢ to 5¢ lower, September 2.36¢ and oats were unchanged to 1¢ higher, September 1.10.

New York Stock Market

By DAVID BURKE
AP Business Writer

NEW YORK (AP) — The stock market languished in dull trading Thursday, showing only slight gains. But blue chips were off.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrials fell .75 to 880.57, but most other market indicators were higher.

Other than some minor sawing during the session, prices remained fairly steady.

"The key factor continues to be the question of when interest rates will peak," said Larry Wachtel, analyst with Bache & Co.

Federal Reserve Board chairman Arthur Burns has indicated the Fed will continue pursuing a tight-money policy.

"This means any short term hopes for an immediate peak in rates is dashed," said Wachtel.

Further dampening the market, analysts said, was the report that President Nixon's top domestic adviser, Melvin R. Laird, said the President was considering a tax hike.

New York Stock Exchange volume remained a scarce total of 11.67 million shares, indicating that most traders were on the sidelines.

The New York Stock Exchange index gained .18 to 55.37, while the American Stock Exchange market value index rose .17 to 100.21.

On the NYSE, 675 issues advanced, and 661 declined among 1,785 stocks traded.

Rite Aid was volume leader on the Big Board, down 1 1/2 to 24 1/2.

McDonald's, which was featured as a cover story on Time magazine, climbed 2 1/2 to 68 1/2.

On the Amex, Canadian Javelin rose 1 1/2 to 17 1/2. Copper prices have been climbing.

In Over-the-Counter trading, the NASDAQ composite index closed up .27 at 105.60.

MACMURRAY COLLEGE's new Education Complex is shown here in an architect's rendering. The complex, to be built on three levels, includes facilities for special education, elementary and secondary education, physical education and recreation.

Ceremonies Set Saturday For Mac Building

A ceremony of groundbreaking for MacMurray College's new Education Complex will be Saturday, Sept. 15 at 11 a.m. at the construction site next to the Irma Latzer Gamble Center on Hardin Avenue.

Participants in the ceremony, the official groundbreaking for the complex, will include Raymond C. Dickerson, chairman of the MacMurray College Board

Miss Betty Kriegshauser, a alumni trustee; Dr. Stephen Rodrick, president of the MacMurray Alumni Board; Gil Opferman, president of the MacMurray Students Association; and John Schulz and Ann Jennings, members of the Jacksonville City Council.

Representatives of the architectural firm of A. L. Aydelott and Associates of Memphis, Tenn., who designed the building, and the Evans Construction Company of Springfield, prime contractor, also will attend.

The Education Complex will include facilities for special education, elementary and secondary education, physical education, athletics and recreation. Cost of the project has been put at $3,432,000.

The building, described as both modern and functional, will be built on three levels. It will include such features as a regulation swimming pool, a gymnasium, a dance studio, and a motor learning laboratory, as well as classroom and office space.

The gymnasium will include three basketball courts and also will serve as the setting for convocations and other large public gatherings.

"The Education Complex will enable the college to eliminate much that is obsolete in our present physical plant," Dr. Wittich said. "We are reducing the amount of learning space that must be maintained, but we are greatly improving the quality of our learning space."

Oliver's Hit Lets California Top Chisox, 6-5

ANAHEIM (AP) — Bob Oliver's eighth inning single snapped a tie and lifted the California Angels to a 6-5 victory over the Chicago White Sox Wednesday night.

The Sox had rallied with four runs in the top of the eighth to tie the score, three of them scoring on Bill Sharp's home run. But the Angels came back with a two-out rally to win it with Winston Llenas singling, moving up on a walk to Frank Robinson and scoring on Oliver's hit.

Fran Bank's Rate To 10%

NEW YORK (AP) — Wells Fargo Bank of San Francisco said Thursday it would raise its prime lending rate to a historic high of 10 per cent, effective Friday.

The prime, which is the minimum lending fee banks charge their largest and best corporate customers, has been climbing all year from 6 per cent in January. It reached 9 1/2 per cent in late August, but had remained there since.

Analysts said it appeared no bank was anxious to be the first to post a 10 per cent prime. But in the wake of Wells Fargo's move, credit experts said it seemed likely other banks would swiftly follow suit.

No Indication Given Of Fuel Allocation

WASHINGTON (AP) — White House adviser John Love conceded Thursday that the nation may face temporary heating-fuel shortages this winter. But he gave no indication that the Nixon administration will require allocation as a solution.

Love, director of the White House Energy Policy Office, told a Senate subcommittee that the administration is seeking to stimulate the supply of fuel oil, but that allocation is still under consideration.

He thus disagreed with a growing number of congressmen who are calling for mandatory allocation before winter.

Sen. Henry M. Jackson, D-Wash., the most persistent advocate of mandatory allocation, wrote President Nixon that the nation faces "serious power shortages and blackouts in major metropolitan areas this winter if action is not immediately taken to assist electrical utilities in securing essential fuel supplies."

At a news conference, Jackson released letters from Mayor Tom Bradley of Los Angeles and from the chairman of Consolidated Edison, the nation's largest electric utility, urging mandatory allocation.

Bradley said a fuel shortage is threatening the city's fire and police operations.

Chairman Charles F. Luce of Consolidated Edison said the New York City area faces the threat of power disruptions or sharply increased prices for power if utilities turn to foreign suppliers for the oil needed to fire electric generators.

"Home-heating-oil prices will inevitably rise to new highs unless Congress enacts legislation establishing mandatory fuel allocations," Luce wrote.

The Senate twice has passed Jackson's bill requiring the President to implement mandatory allocation. Under that bill, which is pending in the House, the President would direct the pricing and distribution of the nation's entire supply of oil and petroleum products to ensure that public-service needs are met and that each section of the nation gets a share of fuel.

Nixon already has authority to require allocation, but has relied on a voluntary program.

Love told a Senate government operations subcommittee that mandatory allocation would not provide an instant solution, and noted that it would be nothing more than a sharing of fuel shortages.

town area and only a handful of pedestrians ventured into the streets there. Troops have been fighting in the city for three days against snipers and other armed supporters of the dead Allende.

There have been unofficial reports that 500 to 1,000 people have died and many others wounded in fighting since Tuesday morning, when a coup toppled Allende's three-year-old government. The military authorities, in charge of the only radio network on the air, have not mentioned casualty figures.

Gen. Augusto Pinochet Ugarte, commander in chief of the army, became president of the four-man junta and swore in a 15-member Cabinet composed mostly of military.

Rear Adm. Ismael Huerta, the new foreign minister, advised the Cuban ambassador, Mario Garcia Inchausti, that the junta, in one of its first acts, broke diplomatic relations with Cuba.

Allende's widow, her two other married daughters and four grandchildren received asylum in the Mexican Embassy, the Mexican government announced Thursday. They are to leave for Mexico City Friday aboard a Mexican plane.

In Washington, the White House said that President Nixon, although aware of unrest in Chile, had "no advance knowledge of any specific plans for a coup." The statement was in answer to charges, chiefly from Latin America, that the U.S. government encouraged the military to oust Allende.

Technology Aids In Recovery Of Charred Records

ST. LOUIS (AP) — Space-age technology is helping to salvage some of the millions of records damaged in a four-day fire at the Military Personnel Records Center in suburban Overland last July.

Officials of the McDonnell Douglas Corp. said today that a space chamber, previously used to simulate temperatures and pressures encountered in the Mercury and Gemini manned space missions, is being used to reclaim the records.

A spokesman said the records, loosely packed in open cases, are sealed in the chamber and put through a freeze-drying process.

The water-soaked and scorched records are initially heated to 140 degrees and then frozen while the pressure in the chamber is gradually lowered to a fraction of the normal 15 pounds per square inch.

The drop in pressure squeezes the water from the paper and the cold temperature freezes it. The material is again heated with warm dry air and a vacuum pumping system eliminates the water from the chamber.

"The records come through the process legible and ready to go back into use," a company official said.

More than 20 million records of former servicemen and women were damaged or destroyed in a fire primarily confined to the sixth floor of the one-block-by-two-block federal complex.

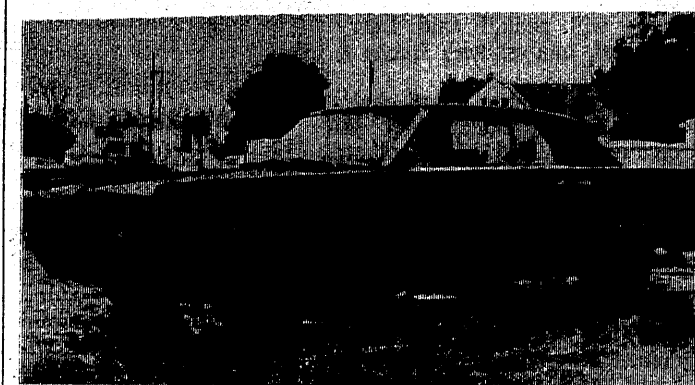

Jeffery P. Hillelson, regional administrator of the General Services Administration, said Wednesday that "about one-third of the sixth floor has been cleaned up and as many records as possible have been salvaged."

He said an investigation is still being conducted into the cause of the blaze.

Vietnam-Era Vets Worse Off Than Fathers

WASHINGTON (AP) — Asserting that Vietnam-era veterans are worse off than their fathers, an independent committee urged today that GI Bill educational benefits be increased substantially.

A gap between post-World War II and current benefits "serves to reinforce the belief of today's veteran that he fought an unpopular war and must deal with public apathy about his future," the Special Veterans' Opportunity Committee said.

The committee, chaired by Rep. Silvio O. Conte, R-Mass., was formed by the National League of Cities and the U. S. Conference of Mayors. Its 39-page report was based on an eight-month study of veterans' problems, including public hearings at Newark, N. J., Cleveland and Seattle.

The committee found that "Many veterans simply cannot afford to use the G. I. Bill."

It also concluded that: "Public reaction to the Vietnam war has been a severe obstacle for GIs trying to adjust to civilian life."

—Those who need help most are not getting it from the G. I. Bill.

—World War II veterans had more benefits and greater public acceptance.

The committee recommended that the federal government add to the basic payment of $220 a month for single veterans a voucher to pay 80 per cent of his tuition and fees.

The committee did not estimate the cost of its proposals but noted that the G. I. Bill will cost $2.5 billion this year.

YOUR BIRTHDAY AND HOROSCOPE

FRIDAY, SEPTEMBER 14—

Born today, you are a quiet, discreet individual who has a positive knack for subtly maneuvering other people into position which will not only be good for them but good for you as well. You would never intentionally persuade another to take a stand or become involved in activities which would harm him in any way—not even if by doing so you yourself would gain immensely. You would not allow any opportunity to pass, however, which would kill the two birds of help-another, help-yourself; indeed, you will work to create such opportunity.

A dominant person in spite of your outward reserve, you should have little trouble rising to a position of leadership in whatever career you choose for your life's work. In fact, early in your career you may even have to be persuaded by higher-ups to take on additional responsibility and to accept advancement, for you may not realize yourself how rapidly you have become important and valuable to your employer.

You may not entirely enjoy such things as intrigue, secret partnerships, and behind-the-scenes activities, but you are exceptionally well endowed with those traits which make one a successful part of them. Unobtrusive, able to keep things to yourself, highly observant, you should be an asset to any organization that works quietly but steadily to influence events of the day.

To find what is in store for you tomorrow, select your birthday and read the corresponding paragraph. Let your birthday star be your daily guide.

Saturday, September 15
VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22) — Make an effort on another's behalf to make it up with a friend. You should be able to explain away another's behavior more than adequately.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22) — Cooperate with other family members and you should see the completion of an at-home project of some importance. Children may need special guidance.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Though there may be obstacles to your immediate success on the home front, you can do much to insure ultimate gain. Check your schedule for loopholes.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21) — Though there may be obstacles to your immediate success on the home front, you can do much to insure ultimate gain. Check your schedule for loopholes.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21) — Try to resolve those issues which are making life on the domestic scene less than happy. Where you can, agree to a compromise.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19) — Activities behind the scenes may be causing more trouble at home than you know. Make an effort to talk seriously with those involved.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18) — Activities linked with partnerships may not be as favored as you had hoped. You would do well to stick to endeavors which you can handle on your own.

PISCES (Feb. 19-March 20) — Guard your personal reputation. There are those who, through rumor and gossip, would make an effort to diminish your success. Realize a small ambition.

ARIES (March 21-April 19) — Though Saturday, you would do well to contact employment associates on a matter of business. You can make up for lost relaxation late in the day.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20) — Cooperate with a friend and co-worker in the interest of better family relations. Disregard rumor—but keep eyes and ears open to receive the facts.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20) — You may want to make contact with a public official at this time. On the other hand, the quieter you are about differences, the better.

CANCER (June 21-July 22) — Complaints will get you nowhere today—unless you take them right to the top. This is a Saturday for trying to get along with children—on their level.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22) — Those you love most are acting in your favor today—though you may not be disposed to believe it. Protect your reputation where children are concerned.

WHITE HALL MEN JAILED THURSDAY

Lloyd Jackson, 22, of White Hall, was brought to the county jail Thursday to serve a five day sentence for failure to pay court costs.

Jackson was ordered held in jail until he paid the costs or completed the five-day sentence. A sheriff's spokesman said the costs were imposed on him after Jackson was convicted of deceptive practice.

Ronald Castleberry, 21, of White Hall, was arrested and brought to the county jail Thursday to serve a 14-day sentence.

Castleberry was ordered jailed after he failed to pay a fine levied against him in circuit court.

Geyzers Could Be New Energy Source

By WILLIAM L. CHAZE

Associated Press Writer

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was told Thursday that energy from geyzers like Old Faithful in Yellowstone National Park could offer a substantial source of new power for western states by the year 2000.

An administration spokesman said that an abundance of hot springs and natural hot water geyzers could be tapped to supply 10 per cent of the power needs for the western one-third of the United States.

The geothermal energy could supply only about 2 per cent of the nationwide power demand, he said.

The spokesman, William W. Lyons, deputy undersecretary of the Interior Department, appeared before a House subcommittee studying geothermal energy.

Lyons said the western states, plus Alaska and Hawaii, offer the most promise for development of geothermal energy, which forces geyzers of steam through the earth's crust and superheats pools of water.

He said about 1.8 billion acres of land in the West have potential for geothermal energy development. One of the world's nine existing geothermal energy plants is located in northern California. Interest lately has been focused on hot water geothermal fields in Southern California's Imperial Valley.

Lyons said the only other area with potential for producing large amounts of geothermal energy is a basin beneath the northern Gulf of Mexico in which hot water is confined under high pressure. The area is off the coasts of Louisiana and east Texas.

But Lyons said difficult technical and economic problems must be overcome before that power source could be tapped.

Springfield Man Pleads Guilty To Burglary

Larry J. W. White, 17, of Springfield, pleaded guilty to the burglaries of Lincoln and Jefferson schools before Judge John B. Wright in circuit court Thursday.

White, one of three persons charged in the burglaries last April 19, earlier had demanded a jury trial on the charges.

White asked the court to grant him probation after pleading guilty.

Judge Wright set a probation hearing and sentencing for Oct. 5. White was remanded to the custody of the sheriff after the hearing.

Hike Interest On Government Farm Loans

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department announced on Thursday that farmers will have to pay more to get government loans for building grain bins and drying equipment this fall.

Beginning Sept. 17, the loans made by the Commodity Credit Corp. will bear an interest rate of 8.75 per cent annually, compared with 6 per cent now in effect.

Further, the department said, borrowers will have to pay a larger down payment to obtain the loans, 30 per cent of the costs instead of 15 per cent now.

The loan program has been used extensively by farmers since it was begun 25 years ago. In the fiscal year ended last June 30, some 41,056 loans totaling $156.6 million were made to help farmers build about 313.5 million bushels of storage capacity.

A spokesman estimated that under the tighter rules only about half that amount will be used during 1973-74.

CHAPIN — Rex Gilliland has returned to his home at Chapin after attending the National American Legion Convention held in Honolulu, Hawaii. He is a veteran of World War One and was a delegate for the Chapin Post 878, which served as his sponsor.

Gilliland was gone Aug. 17 to 26 and reports the trip and meeting was up to his greatest expectations.

UREMOVICH A QUESTION CHAMPAIGN, ILL. (AP)—

Illinois halfback George Uremovich will make the trip to Bloomington, Ind., Saturday for the season opener against Indiana but how much he will play is a question mark.

Uremovich has been sidelined with a severe ankle sprain but resumed running this week and practiced with the team both Wednesday and Thursday.

"We probably won't know until right up until game time how fit George will be," Coach Bob Blackman said.

Lindberg Denies Approval For CTA Claim

SPRINGFIELD, Ill. (AP) — State Comptroller George W. Lindberg Jr. refused Thursday to approve payment of $7.2 million to reimburse the Chicago Transit Authority for reported losses due to decreased fares for school children and the elderly.

In a statement, Lindberg said the request for the payment from Transportation Director Langhorne Bond was not backed up by evidence that the CTA actually suffered such losses.

Lindberg, whose office issues all state checks, sent two vouchers requesting the payment back to Bond. He also asked Atty. Gen. William J. Scott to issue a formal opinion on the matter.

One of the vouchers asked the state to reimburse the CTA for $3.7 million reportedly lost by the CTA in a 50 per cent decrease in fares for the elderly.

The other asked a $3.7 million reimbursement for losses suffered in cutting fares for pupils going to and from school.

"We find no substantive law defining elderly or setting up the conditions under which the loss covered by this voucher would be reimbursed by the state," Lindberg said in a letter to Bond.

"Since we have been put on notice that such loss may actually not have been experienced we must ask that you include in these vouchers documents indicating compliance with these portions of the appropriation bills," he said.

A spokesman for Lindberg said he had been "put on notice" by Republican legislative leaders.

Aides to Bond and Gov. Daniel Walker said they could reserve comment until they saw the letter.

Walker Featured In Telethon

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Daniel Walker will be one of the bright new faces the Democratic party shows to the nation Saturday during its seven-hour telethon.

Walker said Thursday at a news conference on another subject that he will be going to Los Angeles, main site of the nationwide broadcast, to appear on the program.

Just a week ago, Walker said he felt he had been slighted by the national party when he received an invitation to participate in a Chicago kickoff for the telethon the afternoon before it was to occur.

National Party Chairman Robert Strauss and Mayor Richard J. Daley were featured at the noon kickoff rally which was generally recognized as a welcoming back to Daley, who was ousted from the 1972 party convention in Miami.

Daley and Walker have frequently been at odds. Walker won the governorship over the choice of the Daley organization.

St. Louis Newspaper Strike Continues

ST. LOUIS (AP) — A bargaining session that started the day in an air of optimism was snagged on technical contract language Thursday night in the 23-day strike that has idled both St. Louis daily newspapers.

"We've run into snags on language," said Charles Spoehrer, an attorney and negotiator for the St. Louis Globe-Democrat. "We'll just have to battle it out."

Negotiators, who had been talking about a settlement by noon Thursday, broke for dinner Thursday evening and Spoehrer said the talks would take "at least several more hours."

Federal mediator Paul Bowers met for the fourth straight day Thursday with representatives of the Globe-Democrat, St. Louis Post-Dispatch and striking Teamsters Union Local 610.

The bargaining session started 2 1/2 hours late as newspaper negotiators worked to get contract terms into legal language.

Harold Gibbons, international vice president of the Teamsters Union, said an hour after the session started that the contract language appeared to be acceptable. "It was a good job of drafting," he said. But a snag developed later.

The strike against the two newspapers started Aug. 22 in a dispute centered on automation at the Post-Dispatch's new printing plant in St. Louis County, where the Globe-Democrat is also published. The union resisted a proposal that some of the 32 dock handler jobs at the automated plant be eliminated through attrition.

The union represents the dockhands, as well as about 170 delivery truck drivers who deliver the afternoon Post-Dispatch and morning Globe-Democrat.

MT. STERLING — Edwin Greiwe of Clayton died Tuesday at his home. He was 80 years old.

Funeral services were held Wednesday afternoon at the Hersman cemetery, with Hufnagel Funeral Chapel in charge.

Mr. Greiwe was born March 21, 1893 in Perry, a son of William and Lucetta Kaylor Greiwe.

He attended Pike county schools and was a member of the Zion Lutheran church. He was never married. He is survived by a brother, Herman, of Clayton; and three sisters, Mrs. Flora Kallenbach, Mrs. Iva Liehr and Mrs. Francis (Nina) Morath, all of Versailles.

One sister preceded him in death.

No Probation For Some Acts

CHICAGO (UPI)—Gov. Daniel Walker has signed a bill prohibiting probation for persons convicted of armed violence.

The measure, Walker told a Wednesday news conference, prohibits probation in 13 types of crimes, including kidnapping, aggravated battery and deviate sexual assaults.

"The best way to control the illegal use of guns is to tighten the penalties for crimes committed with guns," Walker said.

Other legislation signed into law will:

—Require 30 hours of law and weapons training for private security guards.

—Increase circumstances under which a judge can grant probation for a first offense on possession, delivery and manufacture of marijuana. No criminal record need be made of a first offense.

—Set minimum monthly pension benefits for policemen. The minimum is $250 for Chicago police and $200 for downstate and suburban policemen.

Ex-Pianist Helps Musicians Put Talent Before Audience

By EVE SHARBUTT
AP Newsfeatures Writer
NEW YORK (AP) — Susan Wadsworth says she has a nose for talent.

She has to. The attractive brunette is in the business of discovering star musicians of tomorrow and helping them to bridge the gap between years of study and a professional career.

"I have always loved music," Mrs. Wadsworth said. "I started playing piano when I was 3 and violin when I was 7. I always knew I wanted someday to have a job related to music in a creative way.

"After college, where I majored in English literature and did a lot of applied music for myself, I studied at the Mannes College of Music. Then I decided that as a pianist, I wasn't a professional quality musician. I began to look for other jobs in music."

It took two years in publishing and a year working for the United Nations before Mrs. Wadsworth found the creative job she was looking for.

"One day I bumped into one of my really gifted classmates from Mannes — he's a violinist — and I was surprised to learn that he wasn't doing concerts. It costs an artist so much to be heard in New York. He has to pay everything.

"So, I thought we could get together some of those outstanding artists in a concert series for new faces. I raised the money, about two or three thousand dollars, myself. I rented a loft in the village and set up a stage and lighting," Mrs. Wadsworth remembered.

That was the beginning of Young Concert Artists, which introduced flutist Paula Robinson, violinist Shmuel Ashkenazi and pianist Richard Goode, among many others, to the public.

Council Studies Social Service Welfare Plans

The newly-reorganized Inter-Agency Council met recently at the Sophie Leschin Building, Jacksonville State Hospital. Dr. Laurence Judd, president, introduced the topic and participants.

"Funding for Welfare Agencies and Social Service Programs: Local, State and National Responsibilities," was the topic. Robert Hamm, chairman of the United Fund of Morgan County and Ms. Mary Pipher, manager, Governor's Branch office of Human Resources in Decatur spoke on their respective roles in providing funds to many social agencies.

Both the federal and state governments have cut back funding many social welfare projects. Ms. Pipher pointed out that at the present time little is known about what amounts will be made available from both the state and federal governments.

Mr. Hamm indicated that more and more agencies are asking to participate in the United Fund Program. To accommodate these agencies, the goal has been raised from last year's goal of $137,300 of which only approximately $130,000 was raised.

When funds are available to an agency, both government and United Fund are using more objective criteria in evaluating the project with a close concern of client involvement. Moreover, each agency is being made more accountable for the funds they receive.

Of interest to the group was a statement by Ms. Pipher that federal funds are available for day care centers for senior citizens. It appears that this community is working toward instituting such a program.

Mrs. Paul Worrall, Department of Vocational Rehabilitation, was elected treasurer of the Inter-Agency Council to succeed Dick Sample.

The next meeting will be held on Wednesday, October 3, at the Sophie Leschin Building, Jacksonville State Hospital with a program "Political Perspectives on Social Welfare Services". The panel will consist of representatives of elected officials and labor unions. Any interested persons are welcome to attend the meeting.

auditorium at Hunter College.

"It was exciting from the beginning, but the most important thing then and now was offering these newcomers a chance to be heard," she added. It also offered Susan Wadsworth a full-time job in a field she loved.

"In the beginning, we were successful because I was very cheap help. I enjoyed what I was doing so much that I stayed at my publishing salary for three years. Today, people who work with us have, fortunately, the same philanthropic turn of mind," she said.

For beginning performers there are many problems. First, Mrs. Wadsworth is often hairdresser and confidante.

"The art of performing is an elusive thing that almost anybody can acquire if they perform a lot. The gifted performer has to learn the skill. Sometimes, beginners are certain that whatever reaction they get from the audience is critical, that they are sitting waiting for a wrong note. The musician must see the output of energy and interest from the audience as an attempt to achieve rapport. New performers are often terrified.

SENIOR SPLASH

It's never too late to get into the swim. That couldn't be more sportingly demonstrated than by these old people taking part in the summer camp program for senior citizens run by the Young Men's and Young Women's Hebrew Association of Greater Miami.

The program included a swimming course—and, instead of spending the summer sitting on chairs on the ocean front gazing at the water, some 40 old people, whose ages ranged from 60 to 91, took the plunge and resolved to learn to swim. After all, as one said, "Whoever heard of living in Florida and not being able to swim?"

The group's 24-year-old instructor, Kolman Rosenberg, coaxes his pupils to venture from the pool steps into the water, then to hang on to ropes and kick, then to hold hands and lie face down on the water. "You have to scale this type of thing down for older people," he says. "We have full medical records on everybody in the group." But, beyond the splashing and the spluttering, he notes good results. "This course gives them confidence—and some fun."

Women's Rights Bills Signed

CHICAGO (AP) — Gov. Dan Walker signed into law Thursday 10 bills dealing with women's rights. Among them was a measure that prohibits the refusal of a credit card to a woman because of her sex.

At a news conference well attended by women members of the General Assembly and their guests active in women's rights legislation, Walker also pledged again full support for state legislative approval of the Equal Rights Amendment to the U.S. Constitution.

Walker said five of the bills he signed deal with prohibiting discrimination in areas of employment and hiring. These encompassed state universities, housing corporations, and contractors doing business with the state.

Another bill guarantees women equal pay with men for equal work.

"The bills I am signing today represent the most significant progress yet toward erasing discrimination against women from Illinois law," Walker said. "Each one chomps away at legal discrimination in the laws of Illinois."

"They all help implement the 1970 Constitution, which prohibits sex discrimination. But these are not enough," he said.

"Illinois...is still holding out on the Equal Rights Amendment. ERA must have Illinois ratification and I will continue to fight for it," Walker promised.

The bill barring discrimination in the issuance of credit cards stipulates that a company must tell why it rejected an application.

"The answer cannot be that you're a woman or that you're a wife," Walker said. "If you can pay your bills, you are entitled to your own credit card."

Other bills in the package prohibit savings and loan associations from discrimination on the basis of sex or marital status, gives a married woman the same right as a married man to attach a lien on a spouse's house and changes "widow" to "surviving spouse" in state law governing recoveries sought from those responsible for someone's death.

Cheerleaders Practicing For Waverly Season

WAVERLY — Preparing for the 1973 season are Waverly High School's cheerleaders under the direction of Mrs. Charlene Hobbie who serves as sponsor.

The team traveled to Lake Geneva, Wis. this summer to participate in a cheerleaders' camp where they received a first place trophy for the most improved team participating in the three-day event sponsored by George Williams College.

The girls also won two third place ribbons during the competition with teams from several states.

They have been practicing all summer for their team's opening football game Friday, Sept. 14 against Meredosia in Waverly.

Assembly Reform Drive Announced

CHICAGO (AP) — The Committee for Legislative Reform announced Thursday plans for a statewide campaign to reduce the number of representatives in the Illinois House by a third.

Robert W. Bergstrom, the chairman, said at a committee luncheon that a drive will be launched in January to collect the 400,000 signatures required to place a Constitutional amendment on the Nov. 5, 1974, general election ballot.

If approved by voters, the amendment would reduce the number of state representatives from 177 to 118. The reduction would be made by dividing the present 59 House districts.

Bergstrom said a survey authorized by his committee had found that millions of dollars could be saved by eliminating the salaries and expenses of 59 legislators.

The 400,000 signatures must be collected by May 3, 1974 in order to place the amendment on the ballot, he said.

The committee chairman added that "nothing less than an all-out effort in every county of the state will be required to achieve this sweeping reform."

Elbert S. Smith of Decatur, a former state auditor and legislator, called the Illinois system of electing lawmakers "archaic." He said it allows small and unrepresentative groups to exert disproportionate influence on government.

No other state has such a system, he said.

Smith said that in some districts the stronger of the two major parties knows it can elect only two lawmakers and nominates only two. The weaker nominates one.

The voters have no choice because all three candidates get elected.

In 1970, Smith said, voters had no choice in 31 of the 59 districts.

In 1972, both parties nominated two candidates each in most districts, he said, but that limited voters to choosing three lawmakers from among four candidates.

The proposed amendment provides that each representative would serve a constituency of 94,000—half the population of the present districts.

The Jacksonville Area Conference of Churches' life and work committee held a breakfast meeting at the Ranch House Tuesday, Sept. 11. The committee heard of the need of the local Council on Alcoholism (JACO) for financial support for its work. The committee voted $75 to JACO, and will review its need again in six months.

The committee heard of the upcoming Prison Reform Workshop October 1, in Bailey auditorium in the Julian Chemistry Building, MacMurray College campus.

The speaker was Mrs. Dorothea Anthony, who told of the need to maintain Jacksonville State Hospital, and her eleven county-wide effort enlisting people to inform legislators of the public's strong feeling to keep Jacksonville State Hospital on in the area.

The chairman of the life and work committee is Mrs. Rand Burnette.

$87 Million For College Budgets

CHARLESTON, Ill. (AP) — An operating budget of $87.1 million for fiscal 1975 was approved Thursday by the Board of Governors of State Colleges and Universities.

This is $6.3 million more than was appropriated for the current fiscal year.

The board also approved a capital 1975 budget recommendation of $44.5 million.

Both recommendations now go to the Board of Higher Education for revision. Then, they will be sent to the General Assembly for approval.

In another action, the board accepted the resignation of Milton Byrd, president of Chicago State University for seven years.

Byrd was under investigation in connection with alleged mismanagement of $180,000 when the institution moved to a new campus.

The board voted to honor its salary commitment to Byrd through June 1974 but may appoint his successor at any time. Byrd makes about $40,000 a year in the post.

The operating budget proposals were these:

—Chicago State, $14.3 million; Eastern Illinois, $18.4 million; Governors State, $11.5 million; Northeastern Illinois in Chicago, $15.6 million; Western Illinois, $25.9 million; the board's central office in Springfield, $433,290; and the cooperative computer center for the three Chicago area institutions in the system, $788,208.

In connection with the capital budget requests, Ben L. Morton, executive officer of the board, said they consisted of proposals that previously had received approval from the board, the Board of Higher Education and the General Assembly.

The projects, Morton said, were lost through veto actions of Gov. Daniel Walker and under previous administrations or construction freezes.

Such projects included a proposed $48 million Fine Arts building at Western Illinois, a $7.8 million library at Northeastern State and $8.2 million for Phase II construction of Governors State University in Park Forest.

A wide variety of merchandise, offering many potential bargains to shoppers, will be offered to the highest bidder Saturday afternoon and evening at the Ninth Annual Ambuc Auction.

The annual event will be held this year on the southeast corner of the Jacksonville Downtown Square, beginning at 3 p.m. and continuing until all merchandise is sold, all to the highest bidder.

Merchandise at the auction is donated by local and area merchants, with all proceeds from the event going to Pathway School for the mentally retarded in Jacksonville. Pathway School is the major project of the Jacksonville American Business Club (Ambucs), which started the auction as its major fund-raising event one year after its chartering in 1964.

Over $33,000 from the auction has been donated to Pathway School since that time, including $7,650 last year. The goal this year is $10,000, with 100 of the profits going to Pathway School, which serves Jacksonville and six surrounding counties.

All help during the auction is donated, including the services of the auctioneers.

Ambuc members have been busy soliciting local and area merchants for merchandise and cash donations in recent weeks, and will continue to do so up to auction time. Anyone missed or wishing to make donations may do so by calling Jacksonville Answering Service at 245-2171 or by mailing same to Box 123 in Jacksonville.

Those attending the auction can expect to come away with considerable bargains.

This list of new and used merchandise already donated is again extensive.

Among those items to be sold Saturday are:

Eight used automobiles, a new Sears Kenmore cabinet model sewing machine with a cash value of $254, a new Ritchie combination hog and cattle fountain valued at $230, a new 6x8 overhead garage door, two horses, a Hackney and Apaloosa broken to ride and registered; new and used clothing, exterior and interior paint.
